the first 11 days of April the peseta most of the time commanded 11.00c. and above, and it was then supposed that the Spanish unit would shortly be stabilized at around 12c. as a result of the establishment of the international stabilization credit for $60,000,000 towards the end of March in favor of the Bank of Spain under guaranty of the Spanish Treasury. But the Spanish municipal elections on Sunday, April 12, with the overwhelming success of the republican candidates, changed all this and, accordingly, on Monday, April 13, cable transfers on Spain dropped to 10.27c., and on Tuesday, with the flight of King Alfonso and the royal family, the peseta fell to 9.93c. One of the first steps of the new Government was to rescind the $60,000,000 international credit already mentioned. Cable advices by the Associated Press from Madrid, April 19, stated that announcement of the cancellation had been embodied in a laconic note issued at the end of a Cabinet meeting after midnight. The official announcement simply said: "The Ministry of Finance has been carefully studying the problem of the Morgan credit loan. As circumstances are favorable for rescinding the contract, the Cabinet has decided to proceed to this end." Before they came into power, republican leaders campaigned against the credit as illegal, asserting that all foreign loans must be approved by Parliament and that the Aznar Government never convoked parliament. Minister of Finance Prieto was quoted as saying: "Even before we came into power we were determined that the Morgan loan be terminated. In our municipal campaign we concentrated our attack against it and at that very moment our present Minister of Justice was preparing to file a suit against the Aznar Government, contending that the loan was illegal and now that we have examined the state of the Spanish Treasury we are more eager than ever to terminate the contract. The condition of the Treasury is so good that it needs no such loan to bolster it." Associated Press advices from Paris April 21 in the New York "Times" said however that Indalecio Prieto, Spanish Finance Minister, was quoted in the financial newspaper that the loan was illegal and now that we have examined "L'Information" as saying that the initiative in the cancellation of the $60,000,000 foreign credit came both from the banks and from the new Republican Government in Spain. "The managers of the Morgan bank and of the French banks concerned," the newspaper quoted him as saying, "suggested in the most courteous manner that the arrangement be annulled, and we had the same desire."

The latter part of April the peseta showed marked recovery, due partly to the cessation of scare selling, but mainly to cable dispatches stating that the new Government would recognize all of Spain's financial obligations, notwithstanding rumors to the contrary, and due likewise to the fact that both the Spanish Treasury and the Bank of Spain seemed to be in a really strong condition. On April 30 cable transfers on Spain sold as high as 10.57@10.60. The Dutch guilder was strong throughout the month and on April 30 cable transfers on Amsterdam were quoted at 40.22@40.22½ against 40.08¼@40.08⅜. Dutch bankers stated that the guilder had previously been depressed by purchases of bonds in foreign markets, but that this movement had now come to an end. At the same time money rates in Amsterdam kept steadily growing firmer. The private discount rate advanced to 1⅜% and the buying rate for prime guilder acceptances moved up to 1⅞%. The upward movement began in the middle of March, when rates were 1% and 1⅛%. The Scandinavian exchanges, after early weakness due to investments abroad, the latter part of the month also moved upward, largely in sympathy with the course of sterling exchange. The Danish crown on cable transfers was 26.77½@26.78 April 30 against 26.75@26.75¼ April 1; the Swedish crown on cable transfers was 26.81@26.81½ April 30, against 26.77 April 1, and the Norwegian crown 26.77½@26.78 April 30 against 26.75¼@26.75½ April 1.

The South American exchanges in the case of Brazil, Argentina, Uruguay and Peru all showed decided weakness. The Argentine peso on cable transfers dropped from 34¾@34.80 April 1 to 31.30@32.00 April 27, and was 32¼@32.40 April 30. The Brazilian milreis as against 7.55 for cable transfers at the beginning of April, at one time was down to 7.10 and closed April 30 at 7.25. The Uruguayan peso for checks was down to 65.27@66 April 30, against 71.62@71¾ April 1, and the Peruvian sol for checks dropped from 28.45 April 1 to 27.40 April 20 and was 27.90 April 30. There were causes for the weakness in all these cases. Argentine paper pesos broke sharply on April 16 from 34¾ for cable transfers to 33.00. The slump in the exchange rate and in the quotations for Argentine bonds was the result of two causes. News was flashed that the more radical elements had gained control in the recent elections, bringing on a cabinet crisis and that the Bank of the Nation had withdrawn support of exchange. Buenos Aires dispatches stated that gold would continue to be shipped for the service of the government debt, but not for other purposes. Including current shipments the total gold shipped by the Bank of the Nation from the holdings of the Conversion Office since the revolution amounted approximately to $42,000,000. The gold in the Caja de Conversion accordingly was down to $383,725,000, as compared with $425,774,000 at the end of December. The Bank regarded this sacrifice as no longer justified. The Bank issued the following statement: "The Bank of the Nation, in the face of an excessive decline in the face value of Argentine currency which threatened incalculable losses to importers, obtained from the Government authorization to use the gold reserves of the Caja de Conversion to satisfy the demand for drafts. The Bank thus brought about pronounced improvement in the value of our currency which has been maintained to date, permitting importers and others who had to make remittences abroad to make them at a favorable rate of exchange. As the reasons which induced the Bank to assume this course have disappeared, and as this artificial valorization is prejudicing the sale of the exportable surplus of our products and is likely to foment excessive speculation the Bank has resolved to let the exchange market assume its natural level, subject to renewal of control measures whenever circumstances warrant." A rediscount system was inaugurated by the Bank of the Nation as authorized by the provisional government in a decree issued on April 25 in response to insistent appeals from banks and business organizations. The decree authorizes the Bank of the Nation to rediscount commercial paper with the Caja de Conversion (gold conversion office) up to 200,000,000 paper pesos ($84,920,000 at par). The gold conversion office is to issue paper currency against paper so discounted, and the government bank will in turn rediscount the paper of private banks. Paper currency to the total of 90,000,000 pesos ($38,214,000) is also to be issued against gold which has been deposited in Argentine legations abroad, and it is expected that this total of 290,000,000 pesos ($123,134,000) will amply take care of the country's currency requirements. The Argentine gold stock as of April 25 1931, including gold in the legations abroad, was reported as 378,566,985 gold pesos, or 74.5% of the entire paper circulation. In a statement explaining the rediscount decree the Finance Minister pointed out that the issuance of the entire amount of 200,000,000 pesos which had been fixed as the limit for rediscount would reduce the gold reserve to 64.1%, which would still be much in excess of the 40% reserve required by Argentine law. Foreign bankers specializing in foreign exchange seem to be of the opinion that Argentina's gold reserves could safely be reduced to 50% without endangering the currency. The decree authorizing the rediscount of commercial paper states that the currency has been unusually restricted by the recent export of gold to control the exchange rate.

The par value of the gold sol, Peru's monetary unit, was fixed at 28 cents United States currency by a Peruvian decree law to become effective May 18 1931.

The revaluation of the sol will result it was stated in a surplus of 22,350,000 soles, which will accrue to the reserve bank, the Government receiving the equivalent in class C shares of a new, larger and more effective central reserve bank created by another decree which was to be published on April 20. From the New York "Times" of April 23 we quote the following from Lima, Peru, April 22:

> Last Saturday (April 18) Dr. Edwin W. Kemmerer of Princeton University, recommended fixing the valuation of the Peruvian sol at 28 cents in United States gold, instead of 40 cents, the figure at which the late Leguia administration endeavored to peg it last February.
> A few hours later the Provisional Government had promulgated the Kemmerer recommendation into a National law. Actually, the recommendation fixed the sol at the value around which it has been fluctuating in recent months. It merely ratified an accomplished fact, but large sections of the community, headed by importers who had hopes of the sol returning to a higher value, declare that Dr. Kemmerer has "sold out" to large producers of cotton, sugar and oil, who produce on low currency and sell abroad in dollars.
> Generally, however the impartiality of the Kemmerer Commission is recognized, and action on its recommendations is expected to have a stabilizing effect on the political and commercial situation.

The stabilization report is only one of eleven made by the Commission. A second report, recommending the establishment of central reserve bank on a broader and more ample basis than the existing reserve bank, was made a law Sunday.

The mission sailed for home to-day. In its three-month visit in Peru there have been four different heads in the Government Palace.

Weakness in exchange on Brazil was aggravated by the poor state of general business in Brazil. Brazil's gold reserves have been completely exhausted, according to a tabulation of gold holdings appearing in the Federal Reserve "Bulletin." At the end of February 1930 Brazil held $127,000,000 gold. Preliminary estimates for the end of this February show no gold. Under these circumstances milreis are subject to no economic control whatever.

Premier Scullin of the Commonwealth of Australia, announced on April 26 that J. T. Lang, Premier of the State of New South Wales, had advised him that the New South Wales Government would be unable to meet the interest payments due to private bondholders in New York and London within the next few days. The Associated Press accounts from Canberra, in reporting this added that Premier Scullin said that the Commonwealth Government would make the payments.

Exchange on the Far East was more or less irregular, but on the whole showed firmness, the improvement in the price of silver being a contributing factor, though the news which came on April 30 that a revolt had begun against the Nanking Nationalist Government and that the southern province of Kwangtung had set up a separate government occasioned sime slight weakening. Silver in the early part of April was again on a downward course, the price per ounce in London on April 8 being quoted at 12⅝ pence; from this however there was an advance to 13⅝ pence April 23 with the quotation April 30 13 3-16 pence. The course of exchange rates on the silver using countries ran closely parallel to these variations in the price of silver. The Hong-Kong dollar for checks as against 24⅜ April 2 was quoted at 25 April 18 and 24⅝@24⅝ April 30. The tael on Shangahai moved up from 31⅛ April 2 to 32 April 18, and was 30⅞@31⅛ April 30. The Japanese yen held very steady throughout the month, the rate for checks April 30 being 49.34@49½, precisely the same as on April 1.

Statement of the Ownership, Management, &c., required by the Act of Congress of Aug. 24 1912, of Bank & Quotation Record, published monthly at New York, N. Y., for April 1 1931.

State of New York, County of New York, ss.: Before me, a notary public, in and for the State and County aforesaid, personally appeared Jacob Seibert, who having been duly sworn according to law, deposed and says that he is the editor of the Bank & Quotation Record and that the following is, to the best of his knowledge and belief, a true statement of the ownership, management, &c., of the aforesaid publication for the date shown in the above caption, required by the Act of Aug. 24 1912, embodied in Section 411, Postal Laws and Regulations, printed on the reverse of this form, to wit:

(1) That the names and addresses of the publisher, editor, managing editor and business managers are:

Publisher, William B. Dana Company, 25 Spruce St., New York.

Editor, Jacob Seibert, 25 Spruce St., New York

Managing Editor, Jacob Seibert, 25 Spruce St., New York.

Business Manager, William D. Riggs, 25 Spruce St., New York.

(2) That the owner is (If owned by a corporation, its name and address must be stated, and also immediately thereunder the names and addresses of stockholders owning or holding 1% or more of the total amount of stock. If not owned by a corporation, the names and addresses of the individual owners must be given. If owned by a firm, company, or other unincorporated concern, its name and address, as well as those of each individual member, must be given):

Owner, William B. Dana Company, 25 Spruce St., New York.

Stockholders: Jacob Seibert, 25 Spruce St., New York.

(3) That the known bondholders, mortgagees and other security holders owning or holding 1% or more of the total amount of bonds, mortgages or other securities are: (If there are none, so state.) None.

(4) That the two paragraphs next above giving the names of the owners, stockholders and security holders, if any, contain not only the list of stockholders and security holders as they appear upon the books of the company, but also, in cases where the stockholder or security holder appears upon the books of the company as trustee or in any other fiduciary relation, the name of the person or corporation for whom such trustee is acting, is given; also that the said two paragraphs contain statements embracing affiant's full knowledge and belief as to the circumstances and conditions under which stockholders and security holders who do not appear upon the books of the company as trustees, hold stock and securities in a capacity other than that of a bona fide owner: and this affiant has no reason to believe that any other person, association or corporation has any interest, direct or indirect, in the said stock, bonds or other securities than as so stated by him.

(Signed) Jacob Seibert, Editor. Sworn to and subscribed before me this 31st day of March 1931. Thomas A. Creegan, Notary Public, Kings County, New York County Clerk's No. 55. New York County Register No. 3C24. (My commission expires March 30 1933.)

The tables on pages 18 to 40 furnish a complete record of the transactions on the New York Stock Exchange during April and range since January 1. They need no extended introduction, as they are self-explanatory. The tables embrace every security dealt in on the Exchange. We give bonds first, using the classification adopted in the official list. The black-faced letters in the column headed "Interest Period" indicate in each case the month when the bonds mature.

In accordance with the rule adopted by the New York Stock Exchange in 1909, all quotations for interest-paying bond are at a price to which accrued interest must be added. The exceptions to the rule are income bonds and bonds on which interest is in default. A few other bonds, like the Holland-American Line 6s, for special reasons, are also quoted "flat," but where this is the case the quotation "flat" will be found against the name of the issue. This method of quoting bonds became effective Jan. 2 1909.

For footnotes to tables see last page of bonds and last page of stocks.

General Quotations

OF BONDS AND STOCKS

In the earlier part of this publication complete records of the dealings on the leading stock exchanges of the country, for the latest month and for the calendar year to date, are furnished. In this department of General Quotations we combine in one comprehensive whole, securities of all classes and descriptions, not only those dealt in on the exchanges but also leading unlisted and inactive securities. The following is an index to the different classes of securities quoted:

	Page		Page		Page
Steam Railroad Bonds	77	Public Utility Bonds	83	Insurance Stocks and Scrip	94-120
Steam Railroad Stocks	81	Public Utility Stocks	88	Real Estate Trust and Land Stocks	95
Joint Stock Land Bank Bonds	99	Industrial & Miscellaneous Bonds	91	Title Guarantee and Safe Deposit Stocks	95
Joint Stock Land Bank Stocks	99	Industrial & Miscellaneous Stocks	95	United States and Municipal Bonds	100
Federal Land Bank Bonds	100	Exchange Seats	93	Canadian Municipal Bonds	102
Real Estate Bonds	108	Textile Manufacturing Stocks	94	Foreign Government Bonds	101
Investment Trust Stocks and Bonds	82	Mining Stocks	94

Quotations from all Stock Exchanges are as near as possible for the closing day of the month preceding the date of issue. As the New York Stock Exchange began with Jan. 2 1909 to quote all bond prices "and interest," we have adopted the same method and no longer employ a designating mark to indicate the fact except where there is a deviation from this rule. The reader will understand, therefore, that unless the letter "f" is prefixed to the price, he must pay accrued interest in addition to the price. This, however, does not apply to income bonds or bonds in default, in which cases the price includes the interest, should there be any.

The letter "f" prefixed to bond prices denotes that the quotation is a flat price—that is, that the accrued interest forms part of the price, and therefore the purchaser does not have to provide for it separately in making payment. As already stated in the case of income bonds and bonds in default, the price is always "flat," and no designating mark is employed to indicate the fact.

Quotations for guaranteed stocks are "and dividend"; that is, the accrued dividend must be paid in addition to the price. Stock prices marked thus (d) are per share. All others are per cent except bank stock prices, which are quoted per share unless otherwise stated.

It should be borne in mind in the use of these tables that the quotations for many inactive and unlisted securities are merely nominal, but in all cases the figures are obtained from sources which are considered reliable.

The following abbreviations are often used, viz.: "M" for mortgage, "g" for gold, "gu" for guaranteed, "end" for endorsed, "cons" for consolidated conv" for convertible, "s f" for sinking fund, "l g" for land grant, "op" for optional.

The black-faced type in the letters showing the interest period indicates the month when the bonds mature.

NOTICE.—All bond prices are "and interest" except where marked "f" and income and defaulted bonds.

Industrial and Miscellaneous Securities

Under the heading "Industrial and Miscellaneous Securities" we include all issues which do not appear under the previous two headings, namely "Railroads (Steam)" and "Public Utilities." In the case of stocks, however, we put "Textile Manufacturing," "Insurance," "Mining," "Real Estate and Land," "Title Guarantee and Safe Deposit Companies" under separate heads, then follow with the rest of the "Industrial and Miscellaneous."

NOTICE.—All bond prices are "and interest" except where marked "f" and income and defaulted bonds.

United States and Municipal Bonds

In reporting below prices for State and municipal securities, we give bid and asked quotations wherever they can be obtained. The custom however, is to quote municipal securities on the basis of the return they yield per annum. Therefore in most cases it will be found that instead of actual prices we have inserted in the column headed "To Net" certain figures to indicate the interest rate at which business in the bonds is being done. Thus 4.35% means that the particular security can be bought or sold at a price that will yield the purchaser or seller 4.35% per annum to the maturity ofthe issue. Where two figu res appear, as for instance "4.25% to 4.35%," the rate of return varies according to the maturity—the shorter maturities yielding the lowest rate, and the longer maturities yielding the highest return.

In State and municipal bonds the custom has always been to quote them "and interest." That is, the accrued interest must in all cases be added on. There are a very few which form exceptions to the rule—that is, where the prices given are flat prices, the accrued interest having been taken into account in making them. These are indicated by a special mark, thus (f).

STATE AND NATIONAL BANK STATEMENTS

Quotations in this department are given per share, not per cent, except for stocks of Canadian Institutions, and are as near as possible for the closing day of the month preceding date of issue though often are nominal. An asterisk (*) denotes sales.

Figures of deposits, capital and profits for the national banks are from the Comptroller's last call; for all other institutions they are the latest obtainable, direct returns being procured by us where no periodic statements are required. For the Clearing House banks of New York, Philadelphia and Boston, deposits are taken from the latest weekly statement.

REVIEW OF MAY—COMMERCIAL AND FINANCIAL EVENTS.

The month of May will remain memorable for the feeling of gloom and despondency which grew up and spread from one end of the country to the other as evidence multiplied of the almost complete absence of any indications of improvement in trade or signs of early recovery. Instead of the revival hoped for, the developments were all of a nature suggesting that the depression was actually deepening, or seemed to be deepening by reason of new manifestations of its presence. The month will also remain noteworthy for the further attempts made to stimulate trade through easy money rates and the further cheapening of banking credit. In this last instance the easy money policy, which had proved abortive so long, was carried to extremes which previously would have been deemed unbelievable. The Federal Reserve Bank of New York, as related elsewhere, reduced its rediscount rate from 2% to 1½%, a figure not only lower than any ever before put into effect by any of the Federal Reserve Banks, but also lower than any rate ever established by any central bank throughout the world, as far as records go. The buying rate of the Federal Reserve Banks for bankers' acceptances was, through successive reductions, cut until it went down to a level of only 1% per annum, and in the case of purchases of bills made for foreign banks by the Federal Reserve institutions were down to only ⅞ of 1%, the other ⅛% evidently going to the Federal Reserve Bank for its guarantee of the bill, thus making it three-name paper. Yet the tonic proved unavailing, and trade failed to revive, but, instead, as already said, apparently became more completely paralyzed than before.

Outside the United States the central banking institutions kept feeding out the same kind of medicine, impelled by the action of our Federal Reserve or else resolved to pursue an independent course having a like object in view. Yet their home trade, too, remained prostrate and showed not the least sign of any quickening. The restoratives simply failed to work. Artificial stimulants of this kind proved wholly unavailing. The steps in that direction by the central banks of Europe were really epochal and will long stand as landmarks in showing to what depths the policy of easy money and cheap and abundant credit was carried, and also as testifying to the complete inefficacy of measures of that kind, whether they have in mind the express purpose of benefiting trade or are simply put in effect so as to place the central banks in line with the general downward trend of rates. They accomplished simply nothing. But they nevertheless stand as records. The week following the action of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York in marking its discount rate down to the unprecedented low figure of 1½% the Bank of England cut its rate from 3% to 2½%, being the first time a Bank of England rate of 2½% has been in force since 1909. This was done, too, at a time when the Bank of England was still in need of having a rate which would attract gold from abroad, as its gold holdings had on that very day just reached the Cunliffe minimum of £150,000,000. Two days later, on Friday, May 15, the Bank of the Netherlands reduced its discount rate from 2½% to 2%, the lowest figure recorded in 78 years, or since 1853. Certainly if cheap money could stimulate trade into activity at a time of intense trade depression, this was the occasion to reveal its beneficial agency. But trade remained in the same unsatisfactory shape as before.

FEDERAL RESERVE EASY MONEY POLICY.

As it happened, at the time when the New York Reserve Bank cut its rate to 1½%, the annual report of this bank for the calendar year appeared, and this contained a defense and explanation of the Federal Reserve easy money policy and attempted to show why this policy had failed to work in the way the Reserve authorities meant to have it work. The report admitted that the policy had failed, but it was argued that this was because of special circumstance, not because of anything inherently wrong in the policy itself. It was contended that the economic advantage of a return to easy money, on the occurrence of a business depression, is to be found in the market for new securities. During a period of high money rates and business expansion, such as that of 1929, bond prices decline, we are told, and new issues of bonds tend to be restricted. In the past the resumption of an active bond market, and new financing in volume, appears to have preceded business recovery from depression, it is urged. But why has this plan failed to work on the present occasion? The Reserve Bank claims that the plan did work during the early months of 1930. Bond prices did rise, "reflecting substantial purchases of bonds by savings banks and by the commercial banks in the principal centers." But why did the plan lose its potency after that? A ready answer is given. We are told that "as the mid-year was passed, however, further progress in this direction was interrupted for a time by a series of unfavorable developments at home and abroad. The realization that we were in a major world-wide depression was gradually being borne in on the business community. This adverse psychological factor, coupled with the drouth and banking difficulties, was the principal disturbing influence at home. Abroad there were political and economic disturbances which made it practically impossible to sell foreign securities in the United States." "Not only was the issuance of foreign securities stopped, but the market for domestic securities, except those of prime quality, was disrupted." And then follows the conclusion that "thus easy money was prevented by a series of untoward events from fostering a continued recovery in the bond market which might in its turn have hastened the recovery from depression."

It will be seen that the Reserve officials still believe in their policy of easy money and argue that special circumstances are to be blamed because it failed to work both in the business world and in the security markets. Accordingly, they are determined still to adhere to it, and in order to make it a sure solvent of prevailing troubles they mean to carry it even farther than before, even though the same special circumstances which previously interfered with the success of the plan may still be operative. If the previous liberal doses of easy money and low rates did not suffice for the purpose, still larger doses must be supplied to the suffering patient. So the Federal Reserve is not to be deterred from what it conceives to be its duty. Yet it is beyond dispute that absolutely nothing has been accomplished by all the injection of Reserve credit—that trade is still in an abyss of depression and that "not only is the issuance of foreign securities stopped, but the market for domestic securities, except those of prime quality, is disrupted." In other words, the malady continues with us.

All this is pertinent because it so clearly indicates the purpose the Federal Reserve authorities have in mind in the adoption of their easy money policy and what they hope to accomplish by it. It serves also to show why the Reserve authorities during the month under review went to such great lengths in the further carrying out of the policy in their determination to make it effective at all hazards—that is, reducing their rediscount rate at New York to 1½%, or the lowest figure ever established by any central bank in the world, and in cutting their bill rate down to only 1%. Nevertheless, as already noted, the plan worked as poorly and accomplished as little after the further marking down of the rediscount rate and the bill rate as it had before. Business during the month of May grew worse rather than better. The stock market fell into a state of renewed collapse, and market values melted away in startling fashion, notwithstanding the huge previous shrinkage, while the bond market suffered hardly less seriously than did stocks. Only the highest grade issues escaped in the general breakdown of bond values. Savings institutions and insurance companies disposed of their holdings of railroad securities in large blocks, and, what is more, foreign holders of American securities also disposed of them in big amounts simply because they had lost confidence in their future value and security. Abnormally low money rates availed nothing and could avail nothing in such a situation. United States Government securities moved higher because confidence in their value and stability remained unimpaired and new municipal bond issues found ready takers at steadily appreciating values. One instance of the latter kind was seen in the sale by New York City of $62,000,000 of bonds carrying a coupon rate of only 3% per annum. They were sold to a prominent syndicate at 100.0119, or a premium of $6.188, being an interest basis of 2.99702%, or the lowest net interest basis since the incorporation of the Greater New York in 1898. The bonds had only four years to run, and were immediately reoffered by the bankers at 100½, representing a yield to maturity of 2.87%, and the demand for the bonds was so great that the entire issue was disposed of in 10 minutes. The same experience attended an offering on May 27 at 101 of $60,000,000 20-year 4½% gold debentures of the Consolidated Gas Co. of New York. The subscription books for the new issue were opened at 10 a. m. on May 27 and immediately closed, the entire amount of the offering having been oversubscribed. This happened at a time, too, when the general bond market on the Stock Exchange was passing through a renewed period of great depression and severe declines in prices were occurring all around. The truth is, there has never been the least difficulty in disposing of new capital issues which are above suspicion. Such obligations are not in need of inordinately low money rates, while such rates avail nothing where by reason of business depression, or some other cause, doubt exists regarding the future of a property.

THE FEDERAL FARM BOARD AND THE LONDON CONFERENCE OF WHEAT EXPORTING COUNTRIES.

The month will remain noteworthy also because of new demonstrations going to show the futility and folly of attempts to maintain an artificial state of things in other directions. The attempt of the Federal Farm Board to maintain an artificial price for wheat and cotton comes up as a case in point. In a number of respects this experiment reached its climax during the month under review. This is particularly true as regards the Board's operations in the wheat market. As bearing on these operations, an important development of the month was the holding of an international wheat conference and the attitude of the Federal Farm Board at Washington with reference to the same. It was announced by James C. Stone, Chairman of the Farm Board, in an oral statement on May 4, that the Board would enter this international wheat conference with no definite proposals to present and with no idea that it could enter a binding agreement in handling the 1931 surplus of wheat. It was pointed out that the aim of the conference, according to a resolution recently adopted by the preparatory conference to the Second World Wheat Conference in Rome, Italy, and made public May 4 by the Department of State, was to endeavor to formulate a plan on an international basis for the exportation of the 1931-32 crop. The full text of the statement of the Department of State follows:

The Government of the United States has accepted an invitation extended by the Canadian Government to a conference of wheat-exporting nations which will assemble on May 19 in London at Canada House under the chairmanship of the High Commissioner for Canada in Great Britain, the Honorable G. Howard Ferguson. The conference has been convened pursuant to a resolution adopted in Rome on March 31 1931 by the Preparatory Conference to the Second World Wheat Conference:

"The Conference, recognizing the importance of the orderly marketing of the export surpluses of wheat and being convinced that the present low price of wheat on the world's markets is a serious factor in the present economic depression, is of the opinion that it is desirable that the delegates of the countries exporting wheat, namely: The Argentine Republic, Australia, Bulgaria, Canada, Hungary, India, Poland, The Union of Socialist Soviet Republics, Rumania and Jugoslavia, should meet together as soon as possible to formulate a plan on an international basis for the exportation of the 1931-32 crop. The above mentioned States will invite the Government of the United States of America to take part in their discussions."

Mr. Stone, in his statement, also gave out some interesting statistics relative to the recent operations and current holdings of wheat by the Farm Board. As reported in the "United States Daily" of May 5, he said:

The Grain Stabilization Corporation has sold all the hard winter wheat which it had at Atlantic and Gulf coast ports, Mr. Stone said, leaving only the durum wheat in those locations and the wheat at Pacific ports still to be sold out of the 35,000,000 bushels which it announced some time ago it would offer abroad. The durum wheat, he said, is only a small part of the total. He said he did not care to say how much was sold, but it was not as much as 20,000,000 bushels. The Board has taken no attitude as to further sales of wheat abroad, he said, besides the 35,000,000 bushels.

Some of the wheat at Pacific ports also has been sold, he said.

Sentiment at the recent meeting of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States at Atlantic City was much better than last year, Mr. Stone said.

The Grain Stabilization Corporation received deliveries of 35,000,000 to 37,000,000 bushels of wheat on May 1 on its May futures contract, Mr. Stone said, but the corporation does not wish to estimate the total which it will receive on these contracts. The corporation has borrowed $60,000,000 from the Chase National Bank to finance the wheat which is arriving, he said, and in addition has about $20,000,000 from the Intermediate Credit Banks.

This borrowing, Mr. Stone said, does not represent any lack of funds on the part of the Farm Board, which is maintaining a large balance of funds on hand and is in good financial condition with respect to wheat and expects to continue so.

The Farm Board announced on May 1 that Samuel R. McKelvie, a member of the Board, had been designated to attend the international conference at London, May 18, to consider the world wheat situation. The Board's announcement follows:

The Federal Farm Board has designated Samuel R. McKelvie, member of the Farm Board, to attend the conference of representatives from the principal wheat exporting countries, which will be held at Canada House, London, beginning May 18, to consider the world wheat surplus situation. Dr. Alonzo E. Taylor, of the Food Research Institute, Stanford University, California, will accompany Mr. McKelvie as technical adviser.

Regardless of tangible results, the Board feels that such a conference will develop facts relative to the world situation and problems confronting the different exporting countries that will lead to a better understanding of the mutual difficulties of these countries and what must be done to meet them.

The Board wishes to emphasize that participation in the London conference does not change in any way its recommendation to wheat growers of this country that they gradually reduce production to a domestic market basis. That recommendation stands.

As stated repeatedly in the last year and a half, the Board is of the opinion that such action on the part of the producers is necessary if they are to get a more satisfactory price for their wheat than they have in recent years.

The International Wheat Conference opened at London on May 18 with delegates from 11 wheat exporting countries in attendance. Among the proposals which came before the conference was one offered by the Polish and Austrian delegations, calling for an international export wheat pool. On May 19 Samuel R. McKelvie, of the Federal Farm Board, and head of the American delegation at the Conference, declared that only through production restricted to demand could the solution of the wheat crisis be solved. Mr. McKelvie said, in part:

"After careful consideration of the world wheat outlook, the Federal Farm Board arrived at the conviction that our wheat growers could not expect in the future to get remunerative prices, on the average, so long as we continue to produce a surplus of 200,000,000 bushels for export. The developments of the past year have strengthened these convictions. Our growers are coming to accept these views. The Federal Farm Board and the Secretary of Agriculture have therefore strongly advised American farmers, in their own interest, to cut down our wheat production as far as possible toward the limits of our domestic requirements. While so extensive a readjustment is difficult for farmers to make they are taking steps in this direction.

"Persistent selling below cost by governments in just as disastrous as selling below cost by wheat growers. We see no possibility of a satisfactory solution of the world wheat problem, which does not include, as the most important single element, curtailment of production in exporting countries, individually, and as a whole, until a better adjustment between supply and disposition can be effected and restraint upon fresh expansion of production thereafter. We commend these views to the earnest consideration of the conference."

Stating that delegates from 10 of the 11 wheat exporting countries at conference expressed approval at the May 20 session of the principles involved in the Polish proposals for an international wheat organization authorized to control the limit of exports of each country by means of a quota system, the London advices to the New York "Times" added, in part:

The single dissenting country was the United States of America.

Her refusal to line up with the other grain States was in harmony with the statement made by the chief American delegate, Samuel R. McKelvie to the effect that the United States would not under any circumstances participate in an international pool.

Draft of Polish Plan.

The Polish plan, by which the whole world's business of wheat export would be controlled by an international body with headquarters in London, calls for what the American delegation thinks may be described as a pool of the aggregate surplus of exportable crops of all participating countries on the basis of which the international organization would determine how much each country might sell abroad.

The delegates of the other countries are fearful that the conference will break down completely unless the United States, with its vast oversupply of wheat, can see its way to participate in an international movement. They cite another declaration of Mr. McKelvie to the effect that the United States will not indulge in dumping, but will get rid of its surplus only by orderly marketing. How can there be orderly marketing under present conditions, they ask, except by some such method as that proposed by Poland, whereby countries would be restrained from dumping but each would have its proportionate share of world trade? The United States certainly would not voluntarily take less of the export trade than might be allotted to it by the international quota board. But if it took more, according to the delegates the other countries, it would be violating its promise not to dump.

At least it would have to undersell other countries to get the share of trade allotted to them should they attempt an international quota system with the United States playing a lone hand in the world market.

Acreage Cut Opposed.

In reply to Mr. McKelvie's insistence that all countries should reduce acreage and production, the delegates of the other countires say that such reduction would result automatically if each country entered into an international agreement to limit its exports, at least until the balance of demand and supply was adjusted.

The Soviet delegation, although making no definite proposals of its own presented a statement to the conference to-day accepting in principle the Polish plan.

The Russians also declared their country would not limit grain acreage but on the contrary the Five-Year Plan demands further development of wheat production, at least up to the point where it was before the war, when Russia furnished almost a third of the wheat exported into the world market. If the time ever comes that the countries now represented in London mutually agree to limit their exports by the quota system, Russia is going to demand that her share be fixed on the basis of pre-war trade.

London advices, May 21, to the "Times" outlined the Russian proposals as follows:

The full text of the Soviet proposals presented to the London conference of wheat exporting countries, as revealed to-day, virtually brings to a futile finish the efforts of the delegates of 11 nations to devise an international scheme for orderly, even if not profitable, marketing of the world's grain surplus.

It is hardly an exaggeration to say that Russia asks for an international agreement which would permit her to go on dumping with the blessing of her competitors instead of their curses. She asks a quota allotment which would enable her to export far more than any other country with no price restriction whatever to prevent her underselling in the world market other exporting countries in all of which the cost of agricultural production is far greater than in Russia.

That is what she intends to do anyhow, with or without an international agreement. She says so.

Dominions Cannot Accede.

These are the general reasons why none of the other countries represented here can touch the Soviet plan. In addition, there are special reasons why Canada and Australia could not agree without endangering the future of their imperial trade arrangements with Great Britain.

This fact was revealed in the text of the Russian statement, as reported by the official stenographer of the conference, but together with several other significant parts omitted altogether from the summary of their plan which the Soviet delegates issued themselves.

According to a May 19 cablegram from London to the New York "Journal of Commerce," G. Howard Ferguson, Chairman of the Conference and head of the Canadian delegation, in a statement following the meeting on that day said that all delegates to the conference were in agreement with the curtailment solution offered by the American Farm Board spokesman. This cablegram also said:

This unilateral conference from producing countries is composed of groups from Canada, the United States, India, Argentina, Australia, Russia, Hungary, Jugoslavia, Rumania. Officially the great importing markets of Japan, China, the United Kingdom, Hamburg, Antwerp and Paris are not present. Actually, they are sedulously observant side-line guests.

The May 19 London account to the "Times" had the following to say regarding the Polish plan:

Poles Offer a Tangible Plan.

The Polish proposal, at least, was tangible, no matter how unsound or unworkable it may be, or how impossible from the American viewpoint. Rumania, Bulgaria and Jugoslavia were in accord with it. Hungary will offer a plan of its own, differing in some details from Poland's, but the same in principle, so that international machinery for controlling wheat exports of the whole world may be considered as a common policy for all countries of eastern Europe.

Poland proposes first that the nations represented at the London conference shall agree for 1931 and 1932 to export both wheat and flour only within limits to be determined. Second, to bring this about they would form an international wheat organization in which each country in the conference would have membership and with a central office in London.

Thirdly, the Poles propose that the conference itself fix the quota which each country would be allowed to export this year and next before turning the administration of the plan over to the proposed international organization.

Fourthly, the projected organization would have a reserve of about 30,000,000 bushels to dispose of with the consent of the majority of the member countries to cover special "emergency needs." This is supposed to refer to famines and other disasters.

Fifthly, the annual quota allotments of the several countries would be placed on a monthly basis and no country would be allowed to export in any one month more than one-fifth of its annual total without special authorization from the international body.

Sixthly, the exportation of denatured wheat would not require authorization. Finally, when the wheat price in Liverpool and London failed to maintain a level to be afterward determined, the quotas might be reduced by a decision of the international organization, and when the price exceeded such a level, the quotas might be increased.

Other provisions in the Polish plan are for an inspection service at shipping ports to see that the regulations are complied with, and for certificate fees to defray the cost of the system.

The less detailed proposals of Australia follow:

"That an international marketing organization representing wheat exporting countries be created to control all wheat offered for export sale.

"Each exporting country, as a contracting party, to be represented on such organization.

"A preliminary meeting to be arranged between representatives of the governments of exporting countries which become parties to the agreement to suggest a basis regarding the proportion and percentage of export surpluses to be marketed conjointly.

"The countries adhereing to the agreement as contracting parties to give guarantees for due observance of the agreement reached, each guarantee to be in the form of a bond lodged with the Bank for International Settlements.

"The central marketing organization in its selling policy to have regard for normal relativity of prices as between market grades in the participating countries."

The winding up on May 23 of the International Wheat Conference at London was featured by the unanimous adoption, at a full session, of a resolution to set up a permanent clearing house organization, representing the 11 countries participating in the conference, to collect and distribute statistics and other information regarding wheat and to study all angles of the world wheat export problem. The advices to this effect were contained in a copyright cablegram, May 23, to the New York "Herald Tribune," from which we also quote as follows:

It was further decided that a committee composed of one representative of each of the 11 wheat producing countries should organize the clearing house and draw up a draft agenda for another conference.

G. Howard Ferguson, Canadian High Commissioner in London, Chairman of the conference and head of the Canadian delegation, will be Chairman of this Committee, on which Nils Andrews Olsen, chief of the Bureau of Agricultural Economics of the United States Department of Agriculture, will represent America.

The conference having failed yesterday to reconcile the conflict of policy between the American delegation, which refused to agree to any form of an international wheat export quota system, and practically all the other delegations, which held that a quota system was the only solution of the world wheat problem, there remained nothing for this morning's conference to do but to accept the committee's noncommittal compromise recommendations as to the best way out of the inability to reach an agreement for positive international action.

The result is that things are left about where they were at the beginning of the conference, particularly as regards the immediate problem involved, namely, what to do with the wheat surplus amounting to some 700,000,000 bushels, of which the United States holds approximately 275,000,000.

The communique issued by the conference giving its conclusions and decision began with the statement that "among the underlying causes of the present depressed prices of wheat, the following points should be specially mentioned:

"First, the effects of the economic depression throughout the world.

"Second, the fact that there is more wheat being produced than can be sold at a profit.

"Third, the absence of sufficient adequate information regarding the movements of wheat, the requirements of certain countries and the quantitites which are liable to be placed on the market.

"Fourth, the present uncertain state of the wheat markets."

After this analysis of the situation the report, out of deference to the American viewpoint, stated:

"The conference considers that where possible a reduction in the areas devoted to wheat should be undertaken in whatever way each country considers most effective and practical."

Restriction Urged by United States.

Inasmuch as the United States delegation was the only one which advocated a serious attempt at wheat restriction and as most of the other countries, particularly Soviet Russia, indicated an intention of increasing production, this decision is not likely to become operative to any great extent.

The report next took up by inference the question of dumping, saying:

"The conference further considered that current information regarding supply and demand and the movement of wheat should be brought together in such a way as to assist the wheat exporting countries toward an orderly marketing of their surpluses."

Danube Nations in Minority Report.

However, the United States delegation was the only one—at least in the statement given out for publication—which definitely pledged its country to "orderly marketing," which is a euphemistic way of clearing against the Russian system of throwing grain on the international market at any price it will fetch, instead of contracting for sale before shipment.

Then came the decision to establish the committee for the organization of a clearing house and for the drafting of the agenda for the next international wheat conference, the date of which was not specified.

The feature of the communique, however, was the last page, devoted to what was the equivalent of a minority report by the delegations of the Danubian countries (Bulgaria, Roumania, Hungary and Jugoslavia) and Poland, acting through the Polish delegation. It was the Polish delegation which presented to the conference the detailed plan of an export quota scheme, and the following statement, although politely worded, covers, the correspondent is authoritatively informed, some extremely bitter feeling on the part of those delegations that the scheme was not adopted. The statement says:

"The delegates of Bulgaria, Hungary, Poland, Roumania and Jugoslavia declare that they will not vote against the setting up of a permanent committee of the conference as provided for by resolution, since they hope that this committee will perforce become an increasingly strong bond between the wheat exporting countries and the body for co-ordinating the export policy of European and non-European countries, which will not duplicate the functions of those international institutions which are already concerned with agricultural questions.

"They hope that in this way the conference will mark a step forward in the path of international economic co-operation, although it has been unable to undertake immediate concerted action in the domain of wheat policy. Such action has been frequently demanded by the agricultural population of their countries and, in their opinion, it alone will be capable of suppressing competition between the exporting countries and doing away with one of the essential causes of the distress prevailing in the wheat market and in the economic world generally."

McKelvie Gives Interview.

Whatever hope these countries have that the London clearing house will develop into some sort of executive or policy-making organization regarding the international wheat market is likely to be blasted, it appeared from an interview with Samuel R. McKelvie, member of the Federal Farm Board and head of the American delegation to the conference, obtained this afternoon on the work and achievements of the conference. He declared that the clearing house would be nothing more than a medium for collecting and dispensing information and statistics, with the question of policy left entirely to the respective countries represented. With regard to his views on the conference, Mr. McKelvie said:

"The American delegation is satisfied. We got more, perhaps, than we expected, with the recognition by the conference of the principle of restriction. But we did not come to the conference asking for anything. We did not call the conference and we would not have minded if it had not met, and we would not have cared, if, after its deliberations, it had adjourned without taking any action."

As regards Russia, Mr. McKelvie said her delegation gave no pledge during the conference discussions to abstain from the system of international wheat marketing which is usually described as dumping, but he expressed the opinion that the economic necessity of having to get enough for her exports to pay for her imports will soon or late force the Soviet into merchandising its export wheat in an "orderly manner."

Poland Considers Trade Preferences.

Discussing what he considered the impracticable scheme of the export quota system, Mr. McKelvie declared that repeatedly during the course of the committee discussions he asked the various delegates advocating that policy to suggest figures for their respective quotas, but that none of them —except the Russians, who proposed a minimum based on Russia's pre-war exports—would do so.

As regards the endorsement by the conference of a wheat restrictions policy "where possible," the American delegate said that of course the United States would continue in the international wheat export market, but that it would do so on a diminishing scale until prices advanced.

In an interview given after the adjournment, Adam Rose, chief of the Polish delegation and director of department in the Ministry of Agriculture at Warsaw, indicated disgust that the wheat export quota system had not been adopted and said as a result Poland and the Danubian countries would turn again to a serious consideration of the French scheme for trade agreements between the European agricultural and manufacturing countries for mutual preferences to each others' products.

The Washington Government and private followers of the international wheat conference were agreed on May 21 that deliberations there had strengthened this Government's position that American wheat must be produced on a domestic consumption basis. The Associated Press, as reported in the New York "Times," had the following to say in its account from Washington, May 21:

Sentiment, they said, appeared to be leaning toward an international export pool rather than universal acreage reduction. Since United States delegates are without authority to treat on the pool project, the entrance of other nations into such an alliance would make this country a free lance in the world markets.

Arrayed against the combined selling power of competitive nations which already have the natural advantage of cheaper production, the United States, it was argued, might find it rather difficult to find or hold an export outlet.

Although the strong national views may be tempered, the general situation was interpreted as holding little possibility of accord on either the American or the Russian suggestions which now dominate the conference.

There was poor comfort to the American farmer in the foregoing, and for that reason a record of it is made here. The most important development of the month, however, was the fact that at the end of May the Farm Board, in accordance with the announcement made the previous March, definitely concluded its stabilizing operations in connection with the 1930 crop of wheat, and George S. Milnor, President of the Grain Stabilization Corp., issued a statement summarizing the stabilization operations and speaking in eulogistic terms of what had been accomplished. A telegram from Chicago, May 29 (this was the last business day of the month, May 30 being Memorial Day and a holiday, and May 31 being Sunday), after noting that Government financing of wheat purchases had terminated when the closing gong of the Chicago Board of Trade had been sounded stated this was in accord with the Federal Farm Board's announcement on March 22 that the Grain Stabilization Corp. would cease purchases in the open market with the cessation of trading in the 1930 crop. The telegraphic dispatch went on to add:

The closing left Government agencies in possession of more than 200,000,000 bushels of grain. At the close of the July deliveries, it was estimated here, the Government's loss would be about $90,000,000, with monthly carrying charges of $4,000,000 to be added until some disposition is made of the largest holdings of wheat any governmental agency has ever had in times of peace.

In addition, the Farm Board's stabilizing activities in cotton were estimated to-day to have added over $50,000,000 in losses through a decline of 9 cents per pound in this commodity since 1,300,000 bales were taken over. Here also must be added a carrying charge of several millions.

Final Transactions Orderly.

The Stabilization Corporation, traders pointed out, had in its power this week, if officials had so willed, to effect a "corner" and send prices skyrocketing when "shorts" needed grain to fill their May contracts.

Final sales to-day, however, were few and orderly in the grain exchanges throughout the nation.

Efforts made this week by officials of grain exchanges and by farm leaders to obtain a commitment from James C. Stone, chairman of the Farm Board, as to whether the wheat would be sold in competition with the new crop or held for a year, were unavailing. Audiences with President Hoover for the purpose of obtaining, if possible, some declaration of policy were likewise fruitless

"In the face of the largest carryover of wheat in American history, the sixth year of mounting surplus, selling of the stabilization stocks now would be disastrous to farmers and banks, as well as the administration's farm relief program," declared the spokesman for a group of Chicago grain merchants who met to-day to discuss the situation.

George S. Milnor, president of the Stabilization Corporation, issued a statement after the close of the market calling attention to the fact that the final quotation on May wheat was 83¼ cents a bushel, higher than the 81 cents at which the corporation had "stabilized" the crop. Present holdings, he said, could be marketed "in an orderly manner at satisfactory prices" if there is a marked acreage reduction in winter wheat next fall.

Reviews Government's Efforts.

Mr. Milnor said that American wheat prices had been stabilized well above world levels for seven months, a fact which had aided banks holding loans against wheat to liquidate them. During this period, he added, "more than 350,000,000 bushels have gone into domestic consumption at equal to or higher than the stabilized price."

"Since last November," Mr. Milnor said, "the price of No. 2 hard cash wheat has advanced in Chicago from 76 cents to 84 cents a bushel. These prices in turn have been reflected throughout the entire country, with the result that farmers and others have been able to liquidate their wheat holdings at an average price of from 20 to 30 cents a bushel above world level prices, which declined in Winnipeg to 52½ cents, Liverpool 60⅛ cents and Buenos Aires 45½ cents.

"The question of what the Grain Stabilization Corporation will do with the accumulated stocks is one that is frequently asked. In a statement issued March 23, the Federal Farm Board said 'stabilization supplies of wheat will be handled in such a way as to impose the minmum of burden upon domestic and world prices.'

"It is believed that acreage reductions throughout the world and average crop and weather conditions will cause an adjustment of production to more nearly a normal basis Stocks held in this country at the end of the year will be slightly, if any, larger than those of a year ago. It is too early to predict the size of the 1931 crop. If there is a marked acreage reduction in winter wheat next fall, as is confidently believed will be the case, there is no reason why the present holdings cannot be marketed in an orderly manner at satisfactory prices.

"The Grain Stabilization Corporation is well satisfied with the results that have been accomplished, and it is felt that any hardship that has been caused speculators and commission men has been offset many times over by the benefits to producers, bankers and business in general throughout the country."

On May 31 announcement came from Washington that Charles C. Teague, of California, the Vice-Chairman of the Federal Farm Board, had tendered his resignation, which was to go into effect the next day, and which President Hoover had accepted with regret. In his letter to Mr. Hoover Mr. Teague also spoke in praise and satisfaction of the accomplishments of the Farm Board and its subsidiaries, saying that their operations resulted in benefits to agriculture and business generally "far outweighing any cost to the Treasury," but the greatest benefit to agriculture would come from a long-time project of developing co-operative control of its products. Referring to the Agriculaural Marketing Act, Mr. Teague wrote:

"It was indeed fortunate, during the present serious economic condition through which the country has been passing, that the farmers of the country have had this important legislation, with adequate finances and administered by a group of men of your selection, who have had such a deep and sympathetic attitude toward the problems of agriculture.

"In the time that I have been on the board," he continued, "I have never observed any action influenced by section or politics. The board has always sought for the most helpful solution of any of the problems that have been presented. They have brought to these problems broad business experience and a thorough knowledge of agriculture and co-operative marketing.

As to the Revolving Fund.

"It has, of course, been impossible to be helpful under these most difficult and trying conditions without at times taking some chances of loss to the revolving fund. Had it been administered as a banking trust or fund it would have been of little help to agriculture under existing conditions.

"Had it not been for the revolving fund a large number of the co-operatives that have performed a very definite and valuable service to the farmers of this country would have perished through the inability to finance themselves, and to adjust their business practices to the changed conditions brought about by unprecedented declines in values; so, I say without hesitation that many of these co-operatives owe their continuing existence to the assistance given them by the board. As these facts become better known and understood by agricultural producers and the public, I believe they will recognize the importance of rallying to the support of the board and the Agricultural Marketing Act.

"I am firmly convinced that during the last two years more progress has been made in co-operative marketing than has been made in any previous ten-year period in our history."

Despite all this, the course of the grain markets during May offered little comfort to the agricultural communities of the country. In other words, these markets continued extremely depressed. It is true that the May wheat option, in which the Federal Farm Board continued its operations up to the close of the month, moved higher, but the July option and the later options, which were free from Farm Board control, sharply declined, with the result that while at the beginning of the month the July option ruled about 20c. a bushel lower than the manipulated May option, at the end of the month the difference against the July option had risen to 25c. a bushel. The May option at Chicago advanced from 82½@83c. a bushel May 1 to 86¼c. on May 21, and was 84@85c. on May 29. On the other hand, the July option, after opening May 1 at 62¾c., and reaching 64⅝c. May 13, sold down to 58c. on May 25, and closed May 29 at 60⅛c. In Winnipeg the experience was much the same, the close being 2@3c. a bushel lower than the opening. In the early part of the month prices moved higher, but the latter part this gain was turned into a loss. Of course all the different Canadian options ruled at a level 20@25c. a bushel lower than the manipulated May option at Chicago, but corresponded closely to the levels of the Chicago options for July and subsequent months. July wheat at Winnipeg, opening May 1 at 62¾@63c., sold down to 61½c. May 8, but was up to 64⅝c. May 13, then, however, steadily declined to 58⅞c. May 27, with the close May 31 at 60½c. One influence in the decline was undoubtedly the bright outlook for the American winter wheat crop. The Department of Agriculture at Washington on May 8 issued its report on the condition of the winter wheat crop of the United States as of May 1. This report put the abandonment of winter wheat, on account of winter killing, as unusually small, estimating it at only 3.7% of the acreage planted to wheat the previous autumn, compared with an abandonment of 10.9% the previous season and a 10-year average abandonment of 12.2%. This left 40,432,000 acres to be harvested, as compared with 38,608,000 acres harvested last year. At the same time the condition of the growing crop was put unusually high, being placed at 90.3% of normal, compared with 76.7% the previous year and with a 10-year average of 82.1%. Accordingly, the Agricultural Department estimated the probable production at 652,902,000 bushels against 801,337,000 bushels in 1930. As an offset, however, to the bright prospects for the growing winter wheat crop, the promise for the spring wheat crop of the Northwest was far less assuring owing to damage by drouth, and there were indications likewise of some falling off in acreage, though the Agricultural Bureau made no report on the spring wheat situation, it being too early in the season. The Canadian spring wheat crop of the Northwest Provinces appeared to be adversely affected in the same way. Other grain prices, however, also suffered declines. May corn in Chicago closed May 29 at 54⅝c. against an opening price of 57⅛c. on May 1, and the July option closed at 56⅞c. May 29 against 59 at the opening on May 1—in both cases after an advance of 2@3c. a bushel the first 10 days of the month. Oats were also weak the latter part of the month, and the July oats option closed May 29 at 26⅜c. against an opening price of 27⅝c. May 1 and a high price of 28⅞c. on May 12.

DECLINES IN OTHER PRODUCTS.

Many other food prices also moved lower, not a few of them to unprecedentedly low figures, contributing thereby in an important degree to a reduction in living costs—a not inconsequential consideration at a time of part or complete unemployment of such a considerable portion of the population, even though the low level of agricultural prices and of nearly everything produced on the farm made the lot of the farmer a hard one. A dispatch from Chicago, May 31, stated that prices of cattle had declined to the lowest figures in 21 years. Hogs were down to the lowest since 1908, and aged sheep were at practically the lowest price on record, or $1.40 and $2.00. The livestock situation was said to be the most unfavorable in years. Supplies had been heavier in other periods since the war, but the demand now was lacking, depressed business being the cause and packers consequently were loaded with products. The dispatch went on to say:

The top on beef steers the last four days of last week ranged from $7.60 to $8, compared with $8.50 to $9 the previous week and $9.25 to $9.75 four weeks ago. A year ago best steers were $13.60 to $14 and two years ago $14.80 to $15.10. The average for beef steers was $6.70 for the week, off 30 cents from the previous week, and compared with $11.10 last year.

The general average price of hogs in Chicago declined to $4.75 at the close of the week, the lowest since the latter part of 1908. This is a drop of $4.25 from the high point of the year. In 1908 they were down to $4.50 and in 1911 the price was down to $6.05 in June. Average in Chicago for the week was $6, or 50 cents less than a week ago, and the lowest since January 1909. A year ago it was $10.10.

Lamb prices are down to $7.65 in Chicago, a drop of 35 cents for the week, compared with $9.90 last year and $13.30 two years ago. Supplies are ample and the trade sluggish. Fresh dressed lambs are selling in the wholesale market at 8 to 20 cents, or one cent lower than the previous week, and two cents under the price last year for choice.

Fresh dressed beef is the same as a week ago, 9 to 14 cents, or one to two cents less than a month ago, while a year ago the range was 14½ to 21½ cents. Pork loins were firmer at 12 to 19 cents, gaining one cent on the choice, while a month ago the range was 14 to 20 cents.

Another dispatch to the same publication on the same day said that the lowest prices for lard and hogs since 1908 featured the provision market last week. Liquidation and hedging sales by speculative holders and packers, combined with irregularity in the grain markets and the break in stocks, made a weak speculative market, checking buying by speculators and consumers and closing the market at 10 to 17½c. above the season's low, May being $7.30, July $7.35, September $7.45, and October $7.40.

DROP IN GENERAL COMMODITY PRICES.

Other products did not fare any better. Hides showed renewed declines, and the New York Cocoa Exchange, in a statement dated May 22, said: "Cocoa prices are now resting at their lowest levels in the history of the commodity." Some significant statements illustrative of the decline in living costs were contained in some advertisements which the Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Co. (Eastern division) published in the daily papers here in New York City in the second week of the month. In this series of advertisements the company offered "finest quality fresh pasteurized butter cut from the tub at 25c. per pound," and noted that this was against 39c. a pound a year ago. They also offered "fancy Florida new potatoes at 5 pounds for 15c.," and said that the price a year ago in 5-pound lots was 31c. The advertisements concluded with a notice reading: "A year ago to-day one pound of butter and 5 pounds of new potatoes cost you 70c. To-day at A. & P. you can buy these for 40c., a saving of 30c. Other foods are priced accordingly lower at A. & P. stores."

As other illustrations of the reduction in living costs, it was stated in a Chicago dispatch, May 21, to the New York "Times" that the American housewife can now fill her meat market basket and set her table with choice cuts at prices 27 to 40% below what they were a year ago, according to the National Association of Retail Meat Dealers. The dispatch added:

Roast ribs of beef are on the market now at prices as much as 34% lower than this time last year, the association stated.

Pot roasts are being offered for 40% less than a year ago and sirloin steaks have dropped as much as 30%. Round steak is 27% cheaper.

Other meats, such as fresh pork, bacon, hams, veal and lamb are selling at prices substantially below last year.

On the same subject the following statement was made on May 20 by C. B. Denman of the Federal Farm Board:

Beef is available to the housewife to-day at the most attractive figures for many years. On May 16 sirloin steak in the average Chicago retail markets sold at 33c. a pound, while the same class of beef on May 15 1930 sold at 47½c. a pound, or a reduction of 30%; round steak on the same date this year sold at 31c. a pound as compared with 42½c. a pound a year ago, or a reduction of 27%; rib roast, first cut, sold for 21½c. a pound against 32½c. a year ago, or a reduction of 34%; while chuck roast sold for 18c. a pound against 30c. a year ago, or a reduction of 40%.

To put it in another way, a year ago a dollar would buy only 2 1-10 pounds of sirloin steak while now it will buy three pounds. A check of prices in Philadelphia and New York showed comparable reductions and similar reductions no doubt obtain in other markets. The figures quoted were developed by the Bureau of Agricultural Economics of the United States Department of Agriculture.

The consuming public should know of these attractive prices of beef and I am presenting them with the hope that the increasing volume of beef in storage can be moved and relieve the pressure upon a badly demoralized beef cattle market. Live cattle prices are such that producers are experiencing heavy losses, and packers and distributors have marked prices down to where the consuming public can buy with confidence and should buy to their profit.

It was stated on May 21 that many of Sears, Roebuck & Co.'s prices were back to 1913 levels, with an average decrease of 11.4% shown in midsummer flyer catalogue against the previous year. The statement read:

Prices in midsummer flyer catalogue of Sears, Roebuck & Co., on an average basis, show an average decrease of 11.4% from the 1930 midsummer flyer and of about 9% from the 1931 spring and summer general catalogue. Comparison of 1931 flyer prices with those for the spring of 1913 reveal that scores of prices are as low as in 1913 and hundreds of prices are only a few cents higher than in the pre-war year.

Montgomery Ward's midsummer sale catalogue showed price reductions from the spring book averaging about 15%, it is stated.

THE TREND OF COFFEE AND SUGAR PRICES—RESTRICTION PLANS CARRIED OUT.

Even sugar prices did not retain the gains made in the previous months, notwithstanding that the Chadbourne restriction plan was carried into operation. United Press advices from Havana, Cuba, May 8, stated that the official decree creating the Cuban National Sugar Institute had been signed the previous night by President Machado in accordance with the terms of the International Sugar pact to be signed in Brussels the next day. Signature did take place on May 9 by delegates representing seven sugar producing countries, viz.: Germany, Poland, Czechoslovakia, Belgium, Hungary, Java and Cuba. With the pact an accomplished fact, said Associated Press accounts, May 9, from Brussels, Mr. Chadbourne turned over its operation to Francis Powell, another American, who has long been engaged in business in Europe and is the international sugar counsel at The Hague. These accounts also said:

Mr. Powell was authorized to begin functioning immediately. One of his first duties will be to open negotiations with a view to bringing into the international group Peru, Spain, Italy, Rumania and the Dominican Republic.

Mr. Chadbourne characterized this day's event as the opening of a new chapter in post-war economic history.

"We have set in motion a unique expedition into a new field of world economics," he said at a luncheon which followed the signing.

Senator Boudoun of Belgium, Chairman of the conference, paid tribute to President Machado of Cuba, as the first executive to see the value of the Chadbourne plan.

Mr. Chadbourne took cognizance of the fact that Russia is not included in the pact, but he expressed a belief that there is no great danger in that omission.

"So far," he said, "the menace of Russian sugar dumping diminishes with close examination of that country's international position. While Russia may export a certain amount of sugar, the inevitable increase in its own consumption, plus its inability to manufacture sugar and sell it abroad at current world prices without great loss, is expected to minimize the possibility of wholesale dumping."

He said he hoped other industries might follow the lead of the sugar business and make similar international co-operative agreements, thus moving closer to the "as yet illusive economic recovery."

As to what is contemplated by the plan, a Brussels cablegram, May 9, to the New York "Times" said:

A new chapter in post-war economic history was opened here to-day when delegates representing 80% of the world sugar-exporting industries wrote their final signatures to a five-year contract bringing into immediate operation the first agreement for stabilization of a great world commodity. In a simple but impressive ceremony 425 signatures were affixed to eight counterparts and nine protocols of the 8,000 word accord, which the participants hope will serve as a working model for other similarly disorganized products.

To-day's ceremony was the culmination of more than one year's constant negotiations supervised by Thomas L. Chadbourne. . . .

2,500,000 Tons to Be Sold.

The plan contemplates the liquidation over a period of five years of approximately a 2,500,000-ton excess now weighing upon the market and depressing the price of sugar to a point where no exporter is able to sell at a profit. By establishing a balance between world production and consumption it is the expectation of the sugar exporters that normal conditions will eventually be attained and that the price of sugar will rise from its present level of about 1¼ cents a pound to a figure somewhere between 2 and 2½ cents, at which level Cuban and other world exporters would be assured of costs plus the interest on their investments.

In an address to the delegates at a luncheon following the signing, Mr. Chadbourne reviewed the world's economic position and drew certain lessons from the sugar negotiations. After emphasizing the necessity for a similar handling of the present world's economic problems, especially in regard to commodities, Mr. Chadbourne continued:

"Those who speak about these world depressions coming in cycles and this being one of the cycles are talking sheer nonsense. This is a world depression for which there is no precedent, and neither you nor I carry a yardstick or scales to measure or weigh the results of it if it be allowed to take its course on the theory of the survival of the fittest, which many are advocating. That is the law of the jungle and should not be a law for reasonable human beings. If this world depression is allowed to take its course on that theory there will be a few survivors and they will not be fit for anything."

Compares Prices of 1927.

Mr. Chadbourne then compared the prices of a few leading agricultural products in 1927 and to-day, showing disastrous drops. These, he explained, are in the main attributable to overproduction, resulting in an accumulation of stocks overhanging the market.

"From time to time in the past co-operative efforts to stabilize commodities have been made," he continued. "These have almost universally resulted in failure. Those who tried such experiments were just as intelligent, just as determined and as far-seeing as we have tried to be. Time, I am convinced, will show, however, that we have profited from their experience, for this is the first time a commodity of world-wide importance has been brought within the framework of an agreement containing the following three essentials:

"First, the segregation of surplus stocks for orderly marketing over a period of years; secondly, the restriction of output of the chief exporting countries of the world so that the future output as well as the annual sales of the segregated surpluses will equal and not exceed consumption; and thirdly, governmental sanction to control arrangements so that recalcitrants can have no opportunity to take advantage of their fellows.

"If we succeed, as I am convinced we shall, we shall have written a whole new chapter in post-war economic history—we shall have set in motion a distinctive expedition into a new field of economics world-wide in scope."

A cablegram from Havana, May 19, to the New York "Times" reported that Cuba would reduce her 1931 sugar export to the United States by 200,000 tons, the amount to form a part of Cuba's total segregation of 1,500,000 tons, according to the Chadbourne sugar stabilizing plan.

Sugar prices, however, moved lower, Cuban raw sugar, which sold at 1.30c. toward the close of April, showed sales on the 8th at 1.18c., with sales May 15, and again May 28, at 1.20c. and 1.25c. May 29. The wholesale price of refined sugar in this city, which had been fixed at 4.40c. by the different refineries in this city in April, was marked down to 4.35c. on May 19.

Coffee prices remained fairly steady during May at the advance established during April, but Brazil entered upon a course of destruction of large quantities of coffee. The New York Coffee and Sugar Exchange on May 2, in referring to the advance established during April, stated that after reaching the lowest level in 28 years in the middle of the month (April) the price had rallied and advanced 100 to 150 points in a little more than a week, and said that this sensational advance was attributed to the decision of the coffee producers of Brazil to fix an export tax of 10d. per bag under a plan to use the money to purchase and destroy a part of Brazil's oversupply of the commodity. On May 12 the New York Coffee and Sugar Exchange reported receipt of a cablegram saying that purchases of coffee for destruction had already started in Brazil under the plan of stabilization adopted by the Official States Council. The burning process, however, appears to have been attended by some objectionable features, for a cablegram from Sao Paulo, May 31, stated that the National Coffee Defense Council had announced plans for the destruction the following week of 40,000 sacks of coffee. The Council would throw the coffee into the ocean, it was stated, thus eliminating the burning process unsatisfactorily attempted the previous month in Santos. It was added:

The Council destroyed 3,000 sacks in Santos by burning, but the populace objected to the odor of the burning coffee.

Plans for extensive destruction are expected with the accumulation of more money from the selling and export tax, funds from which will be used to purchase excess stocks.

An International Coffee Conference, presided over by the Minister of Labor, Lindolfo Collor, opened at Sao Paulo, Brazil, on May 18. The countries represented were Brazil, the United States, Ecuador, Salvador, Colombia, Guatemala, Venezuela, Holland, Great Britain, Mexico, Panama, Paraguay and Portugal. With regard to the opening of the conference, on May 18, a wireless message from Sao Paulo to the New York "Times" stated:

To-day's sessions started the regular business, with the Brazilian members outlining their proposals, which were as follows:

First, that each producing country be permitted in the future to produce a definite percentage of world consumption, with the percentage based on the last five years of production.

Second, that definite prices be fixed for every type, using 15 cents a pound for Santos type 4 as the base.

Third, that a uniform tax of a half cent a pound be levied for an international coffee advertising fund.

Fourth, that a commission make an annual study of prices and have the power to make changes in quotas.

Fifth, that these agreements be fixed for five years.

The path of this conference was not altogether smooth, and a wireless dispatch from Sao Paulo, May 31, to the New York "Times" stated:

The coffee conference, which has been meeting here for the past few days after a week's recess, has still failed to achieve any definite results, due to the inability of the Brazilian delegates to agree upon a plan to submit.

The chief point of disagreement is the question of valorization or non-valorization, with the provisional government standing firmly for the latter policy. By the end of the week the government is expected to offer a plan of its own.

At yesterday's meeting the San Salvador delegate proposed the creation of an international coffee bank, capitalized at $100,000,000, with authority to purchase the excess stocks of all countries involved.

The Brazilian delegate proposed a joint coffee and sugar growers' world-wide advertising campaign to increase consumption. The proposal was favorably received and a committee was appointed to investigate the matter.

The committee appointed last week to study coffee price deflation me this afternoon without achieving results, and the meetings will continu this week.

The local press has been sarcastically commenting on the conferenc and to-day the conference in turn severely rebuked the press. The Britis delegate asserted that results are impossible until the Brazilian plan announced.

In the New York market No. 7 Rio for spot delivery wa quoted at 6⅝c. May 29 against 6½@6¾c. April 30; 5½c March 31; 5½@5⅝c. Feb. 28; 6¾c. Jan. 31, and 7¼@7½c Dec. 31 1930. No. 7 Santos was 8½@8¾c. May 29, the sam as on April 30, against 7¾@8c. March 31; 7¾@8c. Feb. 28 8¾@9c. Jan. 31; 8¾@9¼c. Dec. 31 1930, and 11@11¼c Oct. 31 1930.

PRICE CUTTING RESUMED IN SALE OF CIGARETTES.

The advance in cigarette prices made the previous mont proved of short duration. On May 18 the United Cigar Store and the Schulte chain reduced the price of popular brand of cigarettes, which since April 10 had been selling for 15c. Package or two for 27c., to 13c. a package or two package for 25c. The New York "Times" of May 19, in its accoun of this action, added:

Although officials of the distributing chain did not say so, it was unde stood the reduction was due to competition by grocery and drug chain store

Louis Goldvogel, in charge of sales for the Schulte chain at its headqua ters, 286 Broadway, expressed the belief that the new prices would n remain in effect "very long."

"It is my opinion," he said, "that the best solution would be for th manufacturers to raise their wholesale prices and put the popular brand of cigarettes in the 15-cent class and take them out of the two-for-a-quarte class. If that were done, all retailers could make a profit of from 18 t 20%. Now the profit is from 5 to 9%.

CUT IN NEWSPRINT PRICES MADE RETROACTIVE.

The International Paper Co. announced on May 18 tha its customers in New York City would receive a retroactiv reduction of $5 a ton for newsprint purchased from Jan. 1931 to April 1 1931. We quote from the New York "Times of May 18, which also stated:

Figures for other zones are being worked out.

On Saturday the International Paper Co. announced that from April 1931 to Dec. 1 1932, the price of newsprint delivered in New York Cit would be $57 a ton. The price formerly had been $62 a ton.

The price schedule made public on Saturday was for the period endi 1936. The schedule set a maximum price for International Paper new print in New York City of $62 a ton, with an average price of $59 a to for the period.

Officials of the International Paper Co. said yesterday at their offic that the new schedule was meeting with the enthusiastic approval of the customers. It was said that many telegrams endorsing the price schedu and policy of the company had been received. The reduction of $5 a to in the price of newsprint will mean a difference of about $3,500,000 the annual revenues of the International Paper Co.

PRESIDENT HOOVER'S EXHORTATION.

The accounts regarding the state of trade which cam from Washington from the different departments of th Government were almost uniformly optimistic even whe current developments did not appear to bear them out. I an address, however, at Valley Forge, Pa., on Memorial Da President Hoover earnestly exhorted his countrymen to sho the spirit of '76, and said it would solve the country's ec nomic Valley Forge. He declared his faith in privat initiative and warned against spurious short cuts to pro perity. President Hoover cited the trials of Washingto and his little band of patriots who at the historic spot "kep alive the spark of liberty in the lowest hours of the revol tion" and "met the crisis with steadfast fortitude." "Th peculiar significance of Valley Forge in our American a nals," said the President, "should strike us all with especi force in this particular moment of our national life." "Th American people," he went on to say, "are going throug another Valley Forge at this time. To each and every o of us it is an hour of unusual stress and trial." "No one he said, "who reviews the past and realizes the vast strengt of our people can doubt that this, like a score of simila experiences in our history, is a passing trial. From it wi come a greater knowledge of the weaknesses of our syste and from this knowledge must come the courage and wisdo to improve and strengthen us for the future."

The President further said: "Valley Forge met such challenge to steadfastness in times and terms of war. Ou test is to meet this challenge in times and terms of peac It is the same challenge. It is the same test of steadfastne of will, of clarity of thought, of resolution of character, fixity of purpose, of loyalty to ideals and of unshaken co viction that they will prevail."

THE STATE OF GENERAL TRADE—THE CONDITION OF THE STEEL INDUSTRY.

The most depressing accounts regarding the state of trad came from the iron and steel industry. There productio showed continued decline, with a further shrinkage in th general price structure, and matters were made worse b some injudicious utterances by one of the leaders in th trade. The "Iron Age," in its issue of May 28, in discussin prevailing conditions, took occasion to say that neither th tempo of buying nor the trend of prices and production ha been noticeably affected "by the frank airing of views the recent meeting of the American Iron & Steel Institute Demand remained sluggish, and in the aggregate continue to taper. Prices in scattered instances had given furth ground, but in the main were unresponsive owing to the dearth of new business, and output was still slowly declining. The allusion to the "frank airing of views" had reference to some peevish and ill-tempered remarks made by President James A. Farrell of the United States Steel Corp. at the meeting in question of the Iron and Steel Institute, on Friday, May 22.

Declaring that "we are living in a fool's paradise if we think that every steel manufacturer in the United States has maintained what is generally known as the current rates of wages," President Farrell stated that "it has not been done. There has been honeycombing and pinching and that sort of thing. And even among the most talked of companies, the so-called big companies, the companies in the headlines now and then, they do not pay the standard rate of wages when it comes to the rate per hour." Mr. Farrell also said, in part:

If I had the power legally to enforce the doctrines that were laid down by Mr. Schwab I think we would be in a state of rehabilitation very quickly. But we have got ourselves to blame in the steel industry for our condition. We have had all sorts of comments made by people who do not understand it. Scarcely a day passes that we do not hear about the high tariff wall in the steel industry—the high tariff wall. Why, the stones are still nestling in the mountains to build the foundation for that wall, they have never been quarried.

The average duty on iron and steel would not bring the steel from New York to Lancaster, Pa. And yet some learned economists and other people always get down to one thing, and that is to cut the 50-cents-an-hour fellow. If all the men in this room that are receiving $5 a day would stand up you could still see over the horizon of this mass of people. We talk about the man receiving $5 a day or $4.80. And yesterday in one place where a man was getting $5 a day, to-morrow he is getting $4.40. When it is said, Mr. President, that wages have been stabilized in the industry—they have not.

We have fallen on parlous times in the steel industry. We read editorials in the press about the tariff on iron and steel, and then we hear what numerous people say, that there will be no return to prosperity until wages are reduced. You go to these newspaper people and you want to advertise; you will find that you are paying as much if not more for your advertising as you have paid for a long time. Deflation is always considered necessary in some places and not necessary in others.

You know I said a year ago right in this very room that if this thing kept on that I doubted if any steel manufacturer in the United States could earn a dividend on his common stock. I say now at present prices they are not earning dividends on preferred stock. We have got to set up a resistance against this constant pressure on the part of the buyers to ruin our business, and we have got to create a different sort of mentality in the minds of the heads of the selling companies. The time has gone by when you can put this all on the salesmen. It's the big chief here and there that does his work now. When you take $10 a ton off of pipe in one slice it is not done by the salesman; when you cut something else $5 a ton and something else $7 a ton, it is not done by the salesman, it is done by the "comrade." And some of them are in the front row here to-day. Comrade Tom Girdler, Comrade Eugene Grace and Comrade Block and Comrade Crawford, and so and so. We are all in the same category.

In its issue of June 4, bringing conditions down to June 2, the "Iron Age" found no developments of a more reassuring nature, production being further reduced and falling prices being still an unwelcome characteristic. The steel mills were found to be working at only 42% of capacity against 44% the previous week, 45% the week before, and comparing with the peak of 57% at the end of March. Besides the falling off in production, the continued shading of prices proved a disturbing feature. The "Iron Age" made the composite price of finished steel, June 2, 2.102c. a pound against 2.114c. a month previous and 2.214c. 12 months before. The composite price of pig iron June 2 was reported at $15.63 per gross ton against $15.79 a month earlier and $17.50 12 months before. The biggest decline, however, was in steel scrap, which dropped to $9.67 a gross ton against $10.33 a month earlier and $13.50 at the corresponding date in 1930. Newspaper accounts stated even before the further decline the latter part of the month that heavy melting steel scrap had dropped to the lowest quotations in about 17 years, or since 1914.

The experience in the case of the non-ferrous metals was no different. All of these dropped to the lowest figures in a long term of years, and some of them to the lowest points on record. Copper was particularly hard hit. Successive reductions brought the export price of the metal down to 9.02½c., while copper for domestic consumption dropped to 8½c. for delivery in Connecticut, and some few sales were reported as low as 8⅜c., a new all-time low. Electrolytic copper here in New York was marked down May 6 from 9⅞c. to 9⅝c., then reduced to 9⅜c. May 13, to 9⅛c. May 18, and to 8⅞c. on May 27. Electrolytic copper in this city was reduced by successive stages from 9¼c. to 8¼c. Tin and zinc dropped to the lowest figures since the beginning of the century. The International Tin Commission, representing the Netherlands, India, Malacca, Nigeria, and Bolivia, appointed a London subcommittee on May 17, under the presidency of Sir John Campbell, for studying new possibilities in the employment of tin. It also resolved unanimously to recommend to the co-operating governments a further immediate reduction in production quotas by 20,000 tons, or 15.9% yearly, which is held necessary to restore the balance between production and consumption. The determination of the governments concerned in the operation of the international tin quota plan to secure a fair equilibrium between production and consumption was stressed by Sir Philip Cunliffe Lister, M. P., in his chairman's speech at the annual general meeting of the Tin Producers' Association in London, on May 20, according to a cabled report of the address received in New York. He is reported as saying:

Clear evidence of the Government's determination to make tin control effective is shown in the recent unanimous recommendation of the international committee that a further reduction of 15.9%, equivalent to 20,000 tons of tin, should be made in the present quotas. I am sure they are right in their decision.

Sir Philip explained that there had been some criticism of the allocation of quotas. It had been contended on the one hand that the Malayan quota might be higher. On the other hand, Dutch advocates had vigorously argued that as Malayan production in recent years had nearly doubled while Dutch production had increased to a relatively small extent, Dutch figures should be higher. He expressed the opinion that while an impartial judge would probably say that in strict mathematical justice Malaya had got the best of the bargain, in practice the various governments had reached a very fair agreement with which the producers might well be content. He added:

The position of the tin industry to-day is bad, but how much worse it would have been had there been no co-ordination of production. Stabilization of tin production not only serves the interests of the tin industry but also the general interests of the countries where it is produced.

The price of tin at New York as against 23.25c. at the beginning of May got down to 22.40c. May 28 and was 22.75c. May 29.

PETROLEUM AND ITS PRODUCTS—FURTHER CUTS IN PRICES.

In petroleum and its products further sharp slashes in prices occurred in the big new East Texas field, and on May 27 the Humble Oil & Refining Co. reduced prices of crude oil in the East Texas field to a level 50% under that previously existing. The new prices range from 25c. a barrel for below 35 degree gravity to a top price of 37c. per barrel. The other large companies of course followed the lead of the Humble Co. On May 28 the crude oil market suffered another setback in the announcement of the Vacuum Oil Co. of price reductions in Lockport (Lake Charles), La., Coastal Crude Oil, ranging from 5c. to 26c. per barrel. The different price changes of the month both in the case of crude oil and in the refined products are indicated in the following:

CRUDE OIL.

May 11.—Effective as of May 9 Tidal Refining Company announced a flat price of 40 cents per barrel in East Texas, regardless of gravity. Tidal also announced a general reduction of 10 cents a barrel, all gravity, in Wichita Falls, Texas, district. New prices range from 33 cents to 47 cents per barrel, as against 43 to 57 cents per barrel.

May 12.—Sinclair Oil & Gas Co. posts price schedule of 43 cents to 67 cents a barrel for oil purchased in East Texas, bringing that district's prices to Mid-Continent levels.

May 27.—Humble Oil & Refining Co., Texas Co., Sinclair Refining Co., Magnolia Petroleum, Gulf and Tidal post new prices for East Texas crude as follows: Below 35-degree gravity, 25c. per barrel, with a 2c. differential for each degree of gravity up to 40 degrees and above, with a top price of 37c. a barrel. The previous quotations, with the exception of Tidal, were 43c. for 29-gravity crude and below to 67c. for 40-degree gravity and above.

May 28.—Vacuum Oil Co. posted new prices on Lockport (Lake Charles) Louisiana coastal crude oil, with reductions ranging from 5c. to 26c. per barrel. All grade A oil now is 60c. per barrel, and all grade B 55c. per barrel. The cut in price for grade A was 10c. per barrel, and for grade B ran from 5c. to 26c., with a flat price of 55c. per barrel for all crudes not meeting the grade A test.

May 29—Pennzoil Co. quotes 15c. premium on Pennsylvania grade crude produced in the vicinity of Oil City and sold to it under yearly contract. This makes the contract price $1.90 a barrel compared with posted price of $1.75 per barrel.

GASOLINE AND KEROSENE.

May 7.—Standard Oil Co. of New Jersey reduces U. S. Motor gasoline ½c. tank wagon and service station.

May 6.—Standard Oil Co. of New Jersey reduces, effective May 5, Diesel fuel oil 10c. per barrel to $1.65 at New York, Boston, Norfolk, Baltimore, Charleston, S. C., Baton Rouge and New Orleans.

May 11.—Standard Oil Co. of New Jersey reduces tank-car gasoline ¾ cent per gallon to 5¾ cents per gallon at Bayonne.

May 13.—Standard Oil Co. of New York reduces tank-car gasoline ½ cent per gallon to 6 cents, New York Harbor, 6¼ cents at Boston and Providence, and 6½ cents at Portland, Me.

May 16.—Effective immediately, the Crew Levick Co. announced a one-half cent reduction in U. S. Motor gasoline, tank cars at New York. New price 6 cents per gallon.

May 21.—Effective immediately, the Texas Company announced a three-quarter cent reduction in U. S. Motor and "Texaco" gasoline at deep-water terminals along the Atlantic Seaboard. New prices follow: U. S. Motor at New York City, 5¼ cents; "Texaco" at New York City, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Norfolk and Wilmington, 6¾ cents; Portland, Me., 7¼ cents; Providence, 7 cents per gallon.

THE TEXTILE TRADES.

In the textile trades the decline in the price of cotton was a decidedly unsettling feature in the cotton goods trade, and the further drop in raw silk prices a demoralizing feature in the silk trade. Cotton is one of the commodities in which the Federal Farm Board has been conducting operations on a large scale, though apparently there was no manifestation of its activity during May. The Farm Board is supposed to be holding or controlling 1,500,000 to 2,000,000 bales. During May the price of spot cotton here in New York dropped from 10c. a pound on May 8 to 8.65c. May 28, and closed May 29 at 8.75c. as against 9.75c. on April 30, and over 11c. at the end of February. Print cloths at Fall River for 28-inch 64x60 were marked down May 2 from 3⅞c. per yard to 3¾c., and further reduced to 3⅝c. May 28. Some of the future options for cotton sold as low as 8½c. a pound, the lowest figure since 1915. The Association of Cotton Textile Merchants of New York, in its monthly report, issued May 11, showed that production during April amounted to 225,955,000 yards, or at the rate of 56,489,000 yards per week. Shipments during April were 217,582,000 yards, equivalent to 96.3% of production. Sales, or new business, booked during the month amounted to 137,749,000 yards, or 61% of production. Stocks on hand at the end of the month amounted to 282,154,000 yards, representing an increase of 3% during the month. Unfilled orders on April 30 1931 were 294,118,000 yards, representing a decrease of 21.3% during the month.

The United States Census Bureau, in its monthly statement, issued under date of May 14, showed 508,744 bales of lint cotton and 66,807 bales of linters consumed in April 1931 as against 531,911 bales of lint and 67,454 bales of linters in April 1930. There was only moderate activity in the woolen and worsted markets, and the silk market was under the influence of the continued decline in raw silk. Japanese double extra 13-15 deniers were quoted at $2.22½@$2.27½ May 29 against $2.35@$2.40 April 30; $2.55@$2.65 March 31; $2.70@$2.75 Feb. 28; $2.85@$2.95 Jan. 31; $2.60@$2.70 Dec. 31 1930; $2.35@$2.45 the previous Sept. 30, and $4.70@$4.75 on Jan. 31 1930. In the 20-22 deniers Japanese crack double extra were down to $2.07½@$2.12½ May 29 against $2.25@$2.30 April 30; $2.50@$2.60 March 31; $2.65@$2.70 Feb. 28; $2.85@$2.90 Jan. 31; $2.70@$2.75 Dec. 31 1930; $2.25@$2.30 Oct. 31 1930, but comparing with $4.60@$4.65 on Jan. 31 1930. Crude rubber prices improved somewhat during the month. Ribbed smoked sheets for spot delivery were quoted at 6½c. bid May 29 against 5⅞c. bid and 6c. asked on April 30; 6⅞c. bid and 7c. asked on March 31; 7⅝@7¾c. on Feb. 28; 7¾@8c. on Jan. 31; 8⅜@8½c. on Dec. 31 1930, and 15¾@15⅞c. on Feb. 28 1930.

THE DISTRESS OF THE RAILROADS.

Growing concern was felt during the month regarding the plight of the railroads. Their returns as filed with the Inter-State Commerce Commission for the month of April, as they came to hand towards the close of May, showed scarcely any improvement over those of preceding months in the comparison with the corresponding period of the preceding year, constituting a dismal record of heavy losses by the roads in all parts of the country to which no parallel can be found in the past, net earnings in the case of the larger systems being generally only about one-third those of two years ago and in many cases no more than one-fifth and in some instances hardly more than one-seventh those of two years ago. Moreover the weekly reports of car loadings made it plain that the exhibits for May would prove no better. Further dividend reductions and suspensions, in addition to those previously announced, testified to the seriousness of the situation, and furthermore hosts of roads which had been earning substantial dividends, were now failing to earn their ordinary interest charges. The effect of all this was reflected in the complete breakdown of market values, not only for railroad stocks but also for railroad bonds as well, and indeed many of these latter suffered frightful declines. It became growingly evident that the railroads were in need of relief of some kind, either lower wage scales or higher transportation rates, and that the relief must come quickly if a complete breakdown of this portion of the economic structure was to be averted. Railroad brotherhoods stood in the way of a reduction in expenses through lower wages, while railroad managers were reluctant to ask for higher transportation rates, since the effect must be to add to the burdens of business and to those of the agricultural classes, but they finally found it incumbent to have recourse to this last alternative and made an appeal to that end to the Inter-State Commerce Commission. This movement however was not attended with any measure of success, at least not for the time being. In the first effort, transportation conditions and how to improve them were understood to have been the subject discussed at a meeting in Chicago on May 8 of the Association of Railway Executives. According to the Associated Press three groups, with much the same personnel, conferred during the day. These accounts added:

They were the Advisory Committee of the Association of Railway Executives, the Board of Directors of the American Railway Association and the member roads of the Association of Railway Executives.

Published reports that the special meeting was called to discuss the possibility of increase freight rates brought no comment from the railway heads and the exact subject of the various meetings was not announced.

R. H. Aishton, Chairman of the Executive Committee of the Association of Railway Executives and President of the American Railway Association, presided.

In a dispatch from Chicago to the New York "Times," May 8, it was stated that confronted by "the emergency which exists as to the credit and income of the railroads," the heads of fifty carriers meeting in the name of the Association passed a resolution instructing all rate groups throughout the country to make an immediate study to determine how the entire railway rate structure may be altered to provide needed additional revenue for the railroads.

On May 21 Eastern railroads made their first definite move for freight rate increases designed to overcome revenue losses which have cut their earnings so seriously. The New York "World-Telegram" in indicating this action said:

Presidents of the Eastern roads, representing all lines east of the Mississippi River, at their regular monthly meeting at the Bankers Club, voted to ask the I.-S. C. Commission to restore freight rates to a level which would protect the credit of the roads.

No official statement was issued when the meeting adjourned and none of the road officials would talk for quotation, but semi-official explanations of what had happened laid emphasis upon the use of the word "restore" rather than "increase."

This is because of the contention of the roads that the general 25% increase in rates granted in 1921 has been almost entirely lost by a whittling process whereby rates on individual commodities or classes of commodities have been lowered by the I.-S. C. Commission. The freight income of the railroads of the country, it was said, was $800,000,000 lower in 1930 than it would have been had the 1921 rates remained unchanged.

Percentage Open.

The railway presidents did not decide upon any specific percentage "restoration," nor did they agree on whether a general horizontal increase should be asked, or particular increases covering specific commodities in specific territories.

A committee of seven road presidents, representing all sections of the Eastern territory, was appointed to work out the details.

A month ago the Eastern presidents ordered a survey on the rate situation which showed that out of a total of 6,000 rate changes authorized since the 1921 general increase, 5,000 have been downward and only 1,000 upward.

10% Enough.

Despite the failure of the executives to agree on how much of an increase in rates to ask, it was said that if the roads could add 10% to their present gross income, their financial stability would be re-established.

The increase proposal was unanimously approved, it was understood, though it had been inderstood before the meeting that some of the Eastern executives opposed such action at this time, when the general trend of prices is down.

The proposal met varying reactions outside the railroad industry.

Some observers held to the railroad viewpoint that increased railroad income would permit the roads to resume their normal commodity purchases, and thus tend to cause a general business revival.

On the other side were those who contended that the railroad executives had little hope of actually obtaining an increase, but planned, if their plea was rejected to use the rejection as an excuse for cutting wages.

Committee Named.

The committee appointed to prepare the case for presentation to the I.-S. C. Commission includes: W. W. Atterbury, Pennsylvania; Daniel Willard, Baltimore & Ohio; Patrick E. Crowley, New York Central; J. J. Bernet, representing the Van Sweringen roads; J. M. Davis, Delaware & Lackawanna; J. J. Pelley, New York, New Haven & Hartford; E. H. Hix, Virginian.

The Inter-State Commerce Commission through its Secretary, George B. McGinty, made known on May 26 that it would not, on its own initiative, undertake an inquiry into the general railroad situation. The statement given out by the Commission on May 26 follows:

The Inter-State Commerce Commission to-day in response to procedural questions informally presented to it by Daniel Willard in behalf of Eastern railroad executives informed him that the Commission will not at this time institute a general investigation into the general railroad situation on its own motion.

GEORGE B. McGINTY, Secretary.

At a meeting in New York on May 27 of the Committee named the previous week by the presidents of Eastern roads to work out measures for the restoration of rates to restore railroad credit, a resolution was adopted as follows:

Resolved, That the question of what increase in freight rates is necessary to meet the present emergency be referred to the traffic, legal and accounting committees to determine what such increase should be and to prepare proper application to cover, report to be submitted for approval of this Committee at meeting to be held at 2 p.m., Friday, June 5.

It is stated that in addition to the traffic, legal and accounting representatives of the various railroads attending the meeting, on May 27, the full personnel of the special committee was present. These included:

J. J. Pelley, President of the N. Y. N. H. & H., Chairman; W. W. Atterbury, President of the Penn. RR.; Daniel Willard, President of the B. & O.; P. E. Crowley, President of the N. Y. Central; J. J. Bernet, President of the Chesapeake & Ohio; J. M. Davis, President of the D. L. & W.; C. H. Hix, President of the Virginian RR.

THE MAY FINANCING OF THE UNITED STATES TREASURY.

The May financing of the U. S. Government consisted of several offerings of Treasury bills bearing no interest, but sold on a discount basis to the highest bidder. There was an offering of such Treasury bills in each week of the month except one, and in the existing plethora of loanable funds, at unprecedentedly low interest rates in every branch of the money market and with the Federal Reserve Banks steadily reducing their buying rate for acceptances and also further lowering their rate of rediscount—here at New York to the lowest figure ever made, not only by the Federal Reserve Banks themselves, but lower than by any central bank in recorded history—these new offerings of bills were placed at steadily decreasing cost to the U. S. Government, so that the prices realized for these bills themselves kept constantly establishing new low records. As noted in our review for the month of April, announcement of a new issue of these Treasury bills had come at the close of that month

(on April 27) when the Treasury Department offered $60,000,000 "or thereabouts" of 90-day bills dated May 5 1931, and maturing Aug. 3 1931. Tenders were received up until 2 o'clock P. M. Eastern Standard Time on May 1. The applications aggregated $305,855,000, the amount allotted was $60,100,000, the price realized by the Government averaging 99.676, this being an average rate on a bank discount basis of about 1.29% per annum. Payment for this block of bills was May 5, the date of issue of the bills. On May 4 an issue of 91-day Treasury bills for amount of $50,000,000 was announced. Tenders were invited up to 2 p. m. on May 7; the bills were dated May 11 1931, and mature Aug. 10 1931. Payment was required May 11, the date of the bills. Tenders totalling $291,690,000 were received, while the amount accepted was $50,000,000. The average price to the Government was 99.701, being an average discount basis of about 1.18%.

On Tuesday May 12 a new offering of these bills for an aggregate of $100,000,000 in two series of $50,000,000 each appeared and tenders were received till two o'clock P. M. Eastern standard time, on May 14. One of the series consisted of 60-day bills, dated May 18 1931 and maturing July 17, 1931 and the other of 91-day bills dated May 18 1931 and maturing Aug. 17 1931. The total bids received for the two series was $459,066,000 and the total amount accepted was $100,102,000. In the case of the 60-day bills the amount applied for was $195,765,000 and the amount accepted as $50,102,000; the average price of the bills in this series was 99.833, the average rate on a bank discount basis being about 1%. The offering of the 91-day Treasury bills brought subscriptions totalling $263,301,000; the amount accepted was $50,000,000 and the average price about 99.745, the average rate on a bank discount basis being about 1.01%. Payment of both series of bills was required May 18. On May 25, Secretary Mellon announced still another issue of these Treasury bills. They were 91-day bills dated June 1 1931, and maturing Aug. 31 1931. Tenders were invited up to 2 P. M. Eastern Standard Time on May 28. The amount applied for was $322,313,000, the total of bills accepted $80,013,000 and the average price to the Government 99.785, an average rate on a bank discount basis of about 0.85% per annum. Payment was required June 1. This sale of bills on a discount basis of only 0.85% per annum was the best realized at any sale of Treasury bills, the closest previous figure having been at the sale of $60,000,000 90-day bills on Jan. 30 1931 which was effected at a discount rate of 0.95%.

Under date of May 26, preliminary notice was given of a forthcoming offering of U. S. Government obligations, the nature of which was not disclosed beforehand—that is the banks were not advised whether these obligations would be in the nature of certificates of indebtedness or in the shape of a new long term bond issue, the notice simply saying that a Treasury offering might be expected on or about Monday, June 1. Promptly, however, on the first of June or rather Sunday night, May 31, the character of the new offering was made known. The new financing took the form of an offering of $800,000,000, "or thereabouts" of Treasury bonds of 1946-49 at par, dated and bearing 3⅛% interest from June 15 1931, and maturing June 15 1949, but redeemable at the option of the United States on and after June 15 1946, in whole or in part at par and accrued interest on any interest day or days on four months' notice. The bonds are to be exempt from the normal income taxes but not from the surtaxes. Subscription books closed June 3 and tenders aggregated $6,000,000. Payment has to be made on June 15, and can be by credits with the depositary banks.

Concurrently with the preliminary notice of this contemplated offering of a new Government obligation there came a very important other announcement which was not without bearing on the rate of interest at which the new obligations were to be put out. It was nothing less than a further reduction in the rate of interest which the depositary banks would have to pay on deposits representing the proceeds of the sales of the new government obligations. The bearing lay in the fact that the lower the rate of interest which the depositary banks would have to pay the Government the wider the margin of profit between that rate and the rate in the new obligations, thereby increasing the inducement to subscribe for the bonds, where the proceeds are left, even if only for the time being, with the subscribing banks or the banks through whom the subscriptions are made. The Treasury Department now cut the rate of interest on Government deposits of the character referred to from 1% per annum to only ½ of 1%, the change becoming effective on June 1. Up to December 1930, the rate of interest which the depositary banks had to pay had long remained at 2% per annum, but on Dec. 1 1930, the rate was reduced to 1½%. On Feb. 16 1931 there was a further reduction to The announcement on May 26 lowered the rate to ½ of 1%. 1%.

It was explained orally at the U. S. Treasury, according to the "United States Daily," that this last step was taken because of the general easy money situation and because banks in the different cities throughout the country had reduced their own rates on deposits. The Federal reduction, it was added, would assist the banks and should facilitate improvement of general financial and economic conditions Efforts were made to treat lightly the loss of interest suffered by the government, the "United States Daily" in its account of the matter saying:

The loss to the Federal Government in income as a result of the reduction will be negligible when compared to the benefits in the general economic structure that are likely to accrue. The reduction to the Government probably will be about $500,000 annually.

Latest official records of the Department, covering up to May 23 show that the amount of Federal deposits in Government depositories was approximately $100,166,000. The figure varies, reaching its peak during tax collection periods and on new security issues, but probably averages around the current amount.

It remains to be said that several successive calls were made for the repayment of the proceeds of the sale of the $275,000,000 certificates of indebtedness, subscriptions for which closed on April 9, and payment for which had to be made by April 15. Nearly the whole of the proceeds of that sale were drawn out by the close of May. The allotments on that issue of certificates aggregated $275,118,000 and the Government deposits growing out of this sale reached $258,633,000, of which $76,213,800 accrued in the New York Federal Reserve District. In a notice from the Treasury Department on April 30, 25% of these deposits were called for payment on May 4. Other calls came at intervals during May, one on May 4, another on May 14, and still another on May 18, a fifth on May 21, and a 6th on May 25, this last being payable May 28, and reducing the amount still on deposit to $12,146,000, of which $3,580,500 represented deposits in the New York Federal Reserve District.

NEW SECURITY ISSUES AND DIVIDENDS IN MAY.

Foreign financing in the domestic market in May was small in volume and consisted of the following issues:

FOREIGN FINANCING.

$8,000,000 Dominion Gas & Electric Co.—1st lien & coll. gold bonds, 6½% series, due July 1 1945 (with stock purchase warrants attached) at 96 and int., yielding over 6.90%. THE COURSE OF THE STOCK MARKET DURING MAY 1931.

During May the stock market passed through another bad and trying period. Prices slumped in a perfectly astounding manner. Day after day, and week after week, in all sections of the market, prices kept dropping almost out of sight. Nothing seemed to avail to prevent the destruction of values, the market acting as if hit by a cyclone with nothing to stop its downward course. In the end this eventuated in positive demoralization and only the slightest selling pressure, in one stock or another, sufficed to start a new break. For the month as a whole the losses reached frightful proportions and they were the more noteworthy and significant inasmuch as they came after the huge previous declines. In truth the market may be said to have gone literally to pieces. This remark applies to bonds as well as stocks, but excluding gilt-edged securities like U. S. Government bonds and municipal obligations, and also excepting bond issues of railroad and industrial companies whose merit and stability have stood the test of time or which could be considered almost bomb proof. In the last analysis the extreme weakness was due to the absence of buying orders on any extensive scale at a time when urgent selling was going on day after day. Behind this absence of buying orders, however, there were the deep-seated causes which may be said to be responsible for the conditions as they now exist. On the one hand the enormous decline in security values, and in commodities as well, has left few people in position to buy, and on the other hand the prolonged depression in trade, with the injury it has inflicted, has served measurably to impair confidence in the future of business and in market values, making merchants reluctant to engage in new enterprises and investors cautious about making investments until the future of trade and of values can be judged with greater certainty than at present and be studied in the light of the changed economic and industrial conditions in the new era upon which the country has entered. Hesitation about making investments, even after the prodigious declines in the security market of the last 19 or 20 months, was naturally encouraged by the poor returns of earnings which all the important companies, both industrial and railroads, have been making in their monthly and quarterly statements. Depression in business in and by itself was bad enough, but the disclosure of what is involved in the way of shortened revenues and profits has been the last straw. Dividend reductions have been the natural outgrowth of the falling off in business and as the list of these has been growing from week to week, new apprehensions as to what the future might have in store have loomed up and have made the cautious and the timid more disinclined than before to assume any risks as to the probable outcome. The changes during the month in the dividend declarations are set out at length in the earlier portions of this article and it is only needful to note the number of unfavorable changes with the names of the companies which have suffered from inflictions of that kind to understand what an extremely potent influence they have been and how they have added to the havoc in the stock market and the bond markets and how these have in turn acted to intensify the depression on the Stock Exchange. No less than 116 of the dividend declarations of the month have involved the lowering or the omission of dividends, while only 16 of the month's dividend announcements have been of a favorable nature.

In addition so many branches of the country's industries have been giving new manifestations of how seriously they were suffering from adverse developments at the present time. Steel production has continued to decline from week to week and has now got back to the low levels reached at the beginning of the year, while at the same time prices for many articles of steel have moved appreciably lower to the discomfiture of producers. Copper, both for domestic account and for export, has dropped to the lowest levels recorded in about a half a century, adversly affecting the market value of all the copper stocks and the oil companies have suffered from the new oil discoveries in east Texas, with the great reduction in oil prices that has followed. And other instances of special depressing developments might be mentioned almost without number. The railroads have suffered beyond all other groups and there is good reason for this in the poor exhibits of earnings which all the companies have made in their monthly returns. The averages of the 25 railroad stocks which form the basis of the compilations which the New York "Times" has been keeping for so many years show a drop from 73.29 on May 1 to 59.73 on May 29, the last business day of the month, while the average for the 25 industrial stocks shows a decline from 215.10 May 9 to 177.95 May 27, with a recovery to 180.32 May 29. The New York "Times" says that prices and averages of these 50 selected stocks declined during May 1931 to the lowest levels reached in seven years. For the 50 stocks combined the average dropped from 143.54 May 9 to 119.33 May 29, with a recovery at the end of the latter day to 120.23, the net decline for the month having been $20.29. In September 1929, just before the crash which then occurred, these 50 stocks recorded a high figure of 311.90. Trading during the month was not of unusual proportions, in spite of the violence of the decline. On no day of the month did the sales reach 3,000,000 shares and the aggregate dealings for the whole month of May were only 46,659,525 shares, which compares with 54,346,837 shares in April and with 78,040,030 shares in May 1930 and with 91,283,550 shares in May 1929. On the New York Curb Exchange the sales for the month foot up no more than 8,117,288 shares, as against 11,526,810 shares in April and 22,763,240 shares in May 1930. No less than 563 shares sold at new low figures for the year during the month on the Stock Exchange and 471 shares attained new lows for 1931 on the New York Curb Exchange.

The most trying day of the month may be said to have been May 12, though there were other days of the month when the declines for the month reached larger proportions. The occasion for the collapse was the appearance in the daily papers in the morning of that day of the statement of the New York Central RR. for the March quarter. This was bad far beyond expectations. The action of the board of directors of the company in March in reducing the dividend from a basis of 8% per annum to 6% had prepared the public for an unfavorable showing, but nothing quite like what the actual results disclosed. It appeared from these figures that the company had earned absolutely nothing for the stock in this period of three months, that, indeed, it had fallen $144,913 short of meeting even its own fixed charges; this comparing with a surplus above the fixed charges for the same three months of 1930 in amount of $8,471,257 and a surplus of no less than $14,992,639 in the first three months of 1929. On Friday, May 22, the steel stocks and U. S. Steel common in particular, were adversely affected by some utterances of President James A. Farrell of the Steel Corporation inveighing against the cutting of prices by competitors and against reductions in wages. A decision of the United States Supreme Court on Monday, May 18, upholding the chain store tax law of the State of Indiana dealt a blow against the chain store stocks.

The railroad share list, or some one of the "rails" generally led new breaks in the market, but quite as frequently United States Steel assumed the leadership in a new downward plunge. Quite a few additional railroads announced lower dividend payments, in addition to those enumerated in our reviews for earlier months; but still more numerous were the dividend reductions and suspensions among industrial and miscellaneous companies. The full list of the dividend changes can be studied, as already noted, by examining the list given in the earlier part of this article. Stocks like New York Central and United States Steel were conspicuous for the extent of their declines, but so also were many other stocks in the high-grade list. New York Central dropped from 100 May 1 to 77½ May 29, this being the lowest figure since Feb. 21 of the year 1922. United States Steel common dropped from 121 May 1 to 89⅞ May 29, or the lowest point touched since Feb. 15 1922. Atchison dropped from 174 May 7 to 143 May 29; Delaware & Hudson from 135 May 1 to 116½ May 29; Illinois Central from 62 May 1 to 46¾ May 29; Norfolk & Western from 185 May 7 to 156 May 29; Southern Pacific from 89¾ May 1 to 72¼ May 29; and Union Pacific from 173½ May 9 to 148 May 27. It will be noted that in all these instances the lowest prices of the month were recorded on the last business day of the month, namely May 29. In the industrial list Allied Chemical & Dye fell from 128¾ May 1 to 103¾ May 27 and closed May 29 at 105; American Can dropped from 114¾ May 1 to 93¼ May 7 and closed May 29 at 95; Amer. Tel. & Tel. fell from 185 May 8 to 162⅜ May 25, and closed May 29 at 164⅞. Auburn Automobile went through its customary gyrations; opening May 1 at 214½, it rose to 256¾ May 11, then tumbled to 152 May 29, but closing on that day at 157½. J. I. Case fell from 84⅜ May 1 to 62⅛ May 27. Fox Film A dropped from 21⅜ May 1 to 11⅝ May 21, and recovered to 15 May 29. Paramount Publix declined from 32¼ May 1 to 21½ May 26 and closed May 29 at 22⅛. Radio Keith Orpheum class A dropped from 18½ May 9 to 12 May 28, closing May 29 at 12⅜. General Electric fell from 46½ May 9 to 37⅞ May 26 and closed May 29 at 38⅝. General Motors fell from 44⅞ May 11 to 34 May 29; Kennecott Copper moved down from 22¼ May 9 to 16⅜ May 29; Sears, Roebuck & Co. declined from 56⅜ May 9 to 47¼ May 19 and closed May 29 at 49½. National Power & Light dropped from 31½ May 1 to 21⅝ May 29 and North American from 72½ May 11 to 61⅝ May 26, with the close May 29 at 63¾; Radio Corp. of America declined from 21⅜ May 9 to 14 May 26, and closed May 29 at 14⅝; Standard Gas & Elec. tumbled from 74⅝ May 8 to 58⅛ May 29 and closed May 29 at 58½; Texas Corp. declined from 23½ May 1 to 18⅝ May 18, and closed May 29 at 19½. Vanadium Corp. of America dropped from 46½ May 9 to 25¼ May 27 and closed May 29 at 26⅝.

Bond prices also moved very much lower, except in the case of U. S. Government securities and gilt-edged bonds like Atch. Top. & Santa Fe gen. 4s, which sold up from 98⅞ May 1 to 101 May 23, and closed May 29 at 100½. On the other hand, there are a host of other issues where the losses were exceedingly heavy. Thus St. Louis-San Francisco cons. 4½s fell from 66½ May 12 to 43½ May 29; Chic. Mil. St. Paul & Pac. 5s, series A, from 63½ May 9 to 52 May 29; Illinois Central St. L. & N. O. 5s A from 96½ May 9 to 89 May 22, with the close May 29 at 90; Southern Pacific gold 4½s from 96 May 9 to 90 May 29; and Missouri Pacific gen. 4s from 66⅜ May 12 to 57¼ May 29. Foreign Government bonds were also mostly lower, with sharp declines in the different Latin American issues and also the Australian issues. In the following we show the fluctuations during May of a few domestic and foreign bonds to indicate the general trend of the bond market.

THE MONEY MARKET DURING MAY 1931.

A further accentuation of ease in the money marke occurred during May and the causes are found entirely i the action of the Federal Reserve banks in further reducin their buying rates for bankers' acceptances and also i still further lowering their rates of rediscount. These re ductions went to extremes which a short time previously no one would have deemed likely. The numerous reduction in the buying rates for acceptances in April and the pre ceding months have been outlined in our narratives fo those months. The last previous notice in April came o Monday, April 27 and left the buying rate on bills runnin from 1 to 45 days at 1¼% and the rate on bills runnin from 46 to 120 days at 1⅜%, with the buying rate for bills hav ing a maturity from 121 to 180 days at 2%. On Wednesday May 6, for the third time in two weeks, the New Yor Federal Reserve Bank made a new reduction in its bil buying rate, bringing the rate down to 1⅛% for bills up t 30 days; 1¼% for bills of 31 to 90 days and 1⅜% for bill of 91 to 120 days maturity. This was followed at the regula weekly meeting of the directors of the Federal Reserve Ban of New York on May 7 by a reduction of the rediscount rat in the New York Federal Reserve District from 2% t 1½%, the lower rate becoming effective the next day Friday, May 8. This last was certainly a most notabl occurrence, as this 1½% rate was found to have no paralle anywhere in the world among Central banks. The record were examined back to the year 1760 and no instance foun of a Central bank rate lower than 2%. The main concer of the Federal Reserve authorities appeared to be th possibility of further gold importations from Europe. Th country was told that the purpose in mind in the eas money campaign in which the Reserve banks were engage was to force funds away from New York with a view t arresting the flow of gold to the United States and incide tally to stimulate the bond market and in turn through th security markets in this country, to bring about a revival of business activity in the United States. But this polic had been pursued with great persistency for over a year and half, without accomplishing any of the results so earnestl desired. Business in the United States had failed to revi but instead had grown steadily worse. The bond marke so far from showing any improvement, had fallen into state of almost utter collapse as far as many of the principa and most active issues dealt in on the Stock Exchange we concerned. Simultaneously, also, no cessation occurred i the flow of gold to the United States.

The new cut in the rediscount rate was as barren of th intended results as all the previous steps in the carryin out of the easy money policy of the Federal Reserve Systen The very next week the Bank of England followed suit i marking down its own discount rate from 3% to 2½%. Th last was most significant action. One of the purposes whic the Reserve authorities were known to have in mind i marking down their rediscount rates and in the recurrin cuts in their buying rate for acceptances, was that of widenin the difference in money levels between New York an London, the theory being that higher rates in London wou serve to deflect short term funds from the New York mark to the London market and that the movement of gold turn would be deflected away from New York and in fav of London. But when the Bank of England, immediate following the reduction in the rediscount rate at New Yo from 2% to 1½%, reduced its own discount rate by the same amount, or ½ of 1%, it clearly appeared that the difference in favor of London was ample enough and hence that the Reserve action had been needless from its own standpoint. And the conclusion was all the stronger when, as happened, open market rates for bills in London likewise moved down, merely trekking after the changes in bill rates by the Reserve System, the result in the end being to leave the difference in favor of Great Britain the same as it was before.

However, considerations of this kind did not swerve the Federal Reserve authorities from their course. Further reductions in the purchasing rates for acceptances were announced. On Wednesday, May 13, a new cut in the buying rate for acceptances was made. For bills running from 1 to 15 days, the rate was reduced to 1%; for 16 to 120 days the rate was 1⅛%; for 150 to 180 days 1¼%. On Monday May 18 another step was taken in the downward process. Instead of the application of the 1% buying rate being limited to maturities of 1 to 15 days, it was now extended so as to cover bills of a maturity running all the way from 1 to 90 days; for 91 to 120 days the rate was left at 1⅛% and from 121 to 180 days 1¼%. It should be added that following the action on May 13, in reducing the buying rate of the shorter maturities of acceptances to 1%, the Reserve banks reduced their buying rate for bills purchased for their foreign correspondents even lower than 1% per annum, dropping it on such purchases to only ⅞ of 1% per annum. It was explained that this brought the foreign bill buying rate into line with the new domestic buying rate for short term bills. The buying rate for foreign purchases of bills usually is ⅛ of 1% lower than the domestic bill buying rate, for the reason that the bills handled in the domestic market are two-named paper, while the addition of the Federal Reserve banks endorsement to such bills makes three-name acceptances. It was also stated that a change in the buying rate for foreign purchases is usual when changes are made in the rates for domestic purchases, but that the relation between the two is not an automatic arrangement.

Of course these repeated reductions in the bill rates of the Federal Reserve Bank and in its rediscount rate, had the effect of driving rates still lower in all branches of the money market. They also had indirect collateral effects of large moment. For one thing the N. Y. Clearing house banks found themselves obliged to cut still lower the rate of interest allowed their customers on balances kept with the banks. Accordingly this rate was reduced from 1% per annum to only ½ of 1% per annum. All classes of deposits were affected by the change in rates made by the Clearing House Committee on May 18, effective Tuesday, May 19. The rate to be paid to banks and trust companies and private bankers, excluding savings institutions, and to ordinary depositors on credit balances payable on demand and on credit balances payable within 30 days from demand the rate was lowered from 1% to ½ of 1%. On deposits in mutual savings banks it was lowered from 1½% to 1%. On certificates of deposit, or time deposits by their terms payable on or after 30 days, the rate was also reduced from 1½% to 1%. Before the Stock Market crash in 1929 the merchant and the business man were able to obtain 2½% per annum on their bank balances. With the advent of business depression the rate allowed on these deposits was at first reduced to 2%, then to 1½% and then to 1%, and now to only ½ of 1% as a result of Federal Reserve policy in driving rates down to figures previously unheard of.

But the matter did not end there. Other outsiders also found themselves sufferers. With yields so inordinately low the banks found it obligatory likewise to reduce the rate of interest allowed on thrift accounts. On May 19 the afternoon papers carried the announcement that a cut by the Chase National Bank had been made in the interest rate on small accounts from 3% per annum to 2%, to take effect June 1. Comment on this step was to the effect that this "sounded a warning to small depositors that they must be prepared to earn less on their savings," to which was added the further statement that thus far the declining earning power had been of interest mainly to the capitalist and the stock market.

It soon appeared that the Chase National Bank did not stand alone in its action in reducing the rate of interest on thrift accounts. The Corn Exchange Bank & Trust Co. had reduced the rate from 3% to 2½% some weeks before. The New York "Herald Tribune" the next morning (May 20) in its news columns, remarked that "the downswing in interest rates, hastened by a more vigorous Federal Reserve policy, was forced anew into the consciousness of thrift depositors yesterday when the Chase National Bank, the Chemical Bank & Trust, and the Irving Trust Co. announced that, as of June 1, they would lower the rate paid on special interest accounts from 3% per annum to 2%." It was also stated that other commercial banks were likely to take similar action in the near future, and, furthermore, the opinion was expressed that after the current quarter depositors in many of the mutual savings banks would have to be content with 3½% interest on their funds instead of the prevailing rate of 4%. From other parts of the country the story was much the same, and interest rates on all classes of deposits were lowered.

Here in New York the effects of the various developments outlined above was particularly noticeable in the call loan branch of the money market, though rates on time loans also weakened, while open market rates for acceptances were likewise reduced. On the New York Stock Exchange the prevailing rate for call loans all through the month of May was 1½%, except that from May 8 to May 12, inclusive, the rate got as low as 1%. On Friday, May 8, after renewals had been put through at 1½%, there was a drop in the rate for new loans to 1%. The following Monday all loans on the Stock Exchange were at 1%, including renewals, this being the first time since Sept. 9 1908, that this low figure was quoted on renewals. On Tuesday, May 12, after renewals had again been put through at 1%, the rate for new loans on call advanced to 1½% and there was no deviation from this figure of 1½% the remainder of the month, either in the case of new loans or renewals. Outside the Stock Exchange money on call was obtainable all through the entire month at 1% and the latter part of the month some loaning on call was obtainable at the extremely low figure of ¾ of 1%. As to the effect of the action of the Clearing House in reducing the rate of interest on demand deposits from 1% to ½ of 1% the Monthly Review of the New York Federal Reserve Bank stated that the only noticeable effect was a tendency for out-of-town banks and other depositors to employ their funds more largely in the call loan market. With the Stock Exchange call loan rate maintained at 1½%, it was possible for out-of-town banks and other lenders to obtain a net yield of 1% after deducting the commission of ½% charged by the New York banks for handling loans for outside lenders, whereas by allowing their balances to remain as simple deposits they could obtain no more than the ½% allowed on deposits. The New York Federal Reserve Bank also noted that during the two weeks ended May 27 the balances of out-of-town banks with New York banks were reduced $108,000,000, while their loans to brokers increased $48,000,000. Similarly, although total brokers loans placed by reporting New York City member banks declined $97,000,000 during this period, the loans placed by these banks for customers other than out-of-town banks increased $24,000,000. The result was that $169,000,000 of the New York banks' own brokers loans were retired.

The time loan branch of the market was soft nearly the entire month and rates further declined all around with the result that even loans running for 6 months commanded no higher than 1½@1¾%. It is to be said, however, that, as in previous months, quotations for time loans were in large measure nominal, the time money branch having continued highly inactive, little or no business being transacted in this class of accommodation.

Rates for commercial paper also moved further slightly lower, and at the close of the month rates for choice names of 4 to 6 months maturity were 2@2¼% as against 2¼@2½% at the close of April. Names less well known were quoted at 2½@2¾%. Prime commercial paper was in active demand throughout the month, but transactions were restricted on account of the shortage of satisfactory offerings. The New York Federal Reserve Bank said that although the inducement of lower rates brought a certain amount of new borrowing into the market, the supply of highest grade material was insufficient to meet the demand and there was a rapid turnover of paper into investing institutions' portfolios. "Reflecting the limited supply of paper, outstandings of only $307,000,000 were reported to this Bank by 20 dealers on April 30. This figure was down 1½% further from the level of the previous month and showed a reduction of 45% from the amount outstanding in April 1930."

As during April the noteworthy developments of the month all concerned bankers acceptances. The action of the Federal Reserve banks in repeatedly reducing their buying rate for acceptances (the rate got as low as 1% on bills with a maturity of 1 to 90 days and only ⅞ of 1%, where bills were purchased for the foreign correspondents of the Reserve institutions) and also in reducing the rediscount rate of the New York Reserve Bank from 2% to 1½%, have been outlined at great length further above, and it is only necessary to say here that the open market rate for acceptances naturally followed the course downward of the Reserve buying rate. The record of the open market for acceptances is therefore one of continuous declines in rates, with the result that at the end of the month bills running from 30 days to 90 days were quoted at only 1% bid and ⅞% asked, with rates for 120 days 1½% bid and 1% asked, and rates for 150 and 180 days 1⅜% bid and 1¼% asked. The Federal Reserve banks in cutting their buying bill rate again and again during the month were in effect competing with the banks and other buyers of bills for acceptances and in this phase of their money policy they were no more successful than they were in the other phases of it. Notwithstanding their extremely low buying rate, they were unable the latter part of the month to add to their holdings of acceptances. The New York Reserve Bank makes this admission in its Monthly Review, saying: "The recent reductions in Federal Reserve buying rates for bills have not been followed by any large increase in the bill holdings of the Reserve banks, but access to Federal Reserve credit has been facilitated somewhat, and bills have been offered to the Reserve banks a little more freely when funds have been needed in the money market." The Federal Reserve statements show that the holdings of acceptances by the 12 Reserve banks after rising from $169,765,000 April 29 to $193,869,000 May 6, steadily declined thereafter and were only $124,501,000 May 27. The Monthly Review of the New York Federal Reserve Agent also further discusses the bill market as follows:

"During May the principal development in the discount market was the further decline in bill rates, as the result of which unendorsed bills were offered by dealers in the latter part of the month at ⅞ of 1% for 30 to 90 day maturities, 1% for 4 months, and 1¼% for 5 and 6 months. These rates show net declines during the month of ⅜ of 1% for the maturities up to 120 days and of ¼ of 1% for the longer bills.

"In the first week of May the requirements of New York City banks for funds resulted in the offering of larger amounts of bills to the dealers and to the Reserve Bank. Following a further slight increase during the next week, dealers' portfolios remained nearly constant at a substantial figure for the balance of the month, and, on the whole, conditions in the bill market were rather quiet. The bill holdings of the Federal Reserve banks tended downward after the increase in the first week of the month, but as the accompanying diagram shows, they remained at a level well above the February and March low points, whereas during the corresponding months of 1930 and 1929 Reserve Bank bill portfolios were declining.

"The amount of acceptances outstanding was reduced $45,000,000 during April to $1,422,000,000, and during the same period the amount of bills held as investments by the group of accepting institutions reporting to the American Acceptance Council declined $62,000,000. Federal Reserve holdings rose meanwhile by a net amount of $39,000,000. Outstandings on April 30 were slightly higher than on the corresponding date of 1930, the first year-to-year increase to be shown since September, due to a comparatively slight seasonal decline so far in 1931."

As to the changes in the rediscount rates of the Federal Reserve banks the reduction in the rate of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York from 2% to 1½%, effective Friday, May 8, has already been referred to further above. It has also been pointed out that this is not only the lowest rate ever quoted by any of the Federal Reserve banks, but is also lower than any discount rate by any Central bank in the world, the search of the record disclosing no lower rate at any time than 2%. Nine other Reserve banks made reductions in their rediscount rates during the month. The most noteworthy of these was the reduction from 2½% to 2% on May 6, effective May 7, in the rediscount rate of the Federal Reserve Bank of Boston. This reduction came, it will be observed, the day before the action of the New York Reserve Bank in lowering its rate; and the Boston bank is also next lowest to that of the New York Reserve Bank of 1½%. Several other reductions by the different Reserve banks also came a day or two earlier than the reduction by the New York Reserve institution. The cut in the rate of the Philadelphia Reserve Bank from 3½% to 3% came on the same day with the reduction of the Boston rate. The Dallas Reserve Bank on May 7, lowered its rediscount rate from 3½% to 3%, effective May 8. This was a day later than the action of the New York Reserve Bank. On May 8, the Cleveland Reserve Bank, the Chicago Reserve Bank, and the St. Louis Reserve Bank all reduced from 3% to 2½% effective May 9. On May 14 the Richmond Reserve Bank reduced from 3½% to 3% effective May 15. On May 20 the Kansas City Reserve Bank reduced from 3½% to 3% effective May 21, and on May 21 the San Francisco Reserve Bank lowered its rate from 3% to 2½% effective May 22.

THE RETURNS OF THE FEDERAL RESERVE AND MEMBER BANKS—BROKERS' LOANS.

The record of brokers' loans, as shown by the weekly statements of the reporting member banks in New York City, is a record of further large contraction, reflecting the new collapse of the stock market. The total of these loans after dropping from $1,849,000,000, April 15, to $1,730,000,000, April 29, declined further to $1,699,000,000, May 6, to $1,671,000,000, May 13; to $1,631,000,000, May 20, and to $1,574,000,000, May 27, showing a contraction for the six weeks of $275,000,000. The only other feature about these loans worthy of special notice is that the loans made for account of the out-of-town banks, after a long period of shrinkage, revealed some increase the last two weeks of the month, while loans "for account of others" likewise showed some recovery the last half of the month. This was attributed to the fact that under the reduction in the rates of interest on deposits made by the New York Clearing House institutions effective May 19 these depositors as simple depositors will be able to net only ½ of 1%, while by having the money loaned out for them on the Stock Exchange at 1½%, 1% will remain over after deducting the service charge of ½% which the Clearing House banks exact as a service charge. The loans made by the reporting member banks for their own account after rising from $1,268,000,000, April 29, to $1,360,000,000, May 13, declined to $1,191,000,000, May 27. On the other hand the loans made for account of the out-of-town banks, after falling from $243,000,000, April 29, to $159,000,000, May 13, were back to $207,000,000, May 27, and the loans "for account of others," after falling from $219,000,000, April 29, to $152,000,000 May 13, were back to $176,000,000, May 27.

The monthly statements of borrowings by Stock Exchange members compiled by the Stock Exchange itself confirmed the indications of a sharp contraction in broker borrowing as reflected in the weekly figures of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York. The Stock Exchange figures showed a further contraction in borrowing by members of the Exchange during May in amount of $216,444,474 reducing the grand total of such borrowing down to $1,434,683,650 on May 31 against $1,651,128,124, April 30, and 1,908,810,494 on March 31. At $1,434,683,650, May 31, the amount was again smaller than at any previous date back to the time when the Stock Exchange first began compiling the figures, which was in January 1926.

There is little to say about the figures relating to the Federal Reserve Banks themselves. The amount of Reserve credit outstanding, as measured by the bill and security holdings, was somewhat smaller at the end of May than at the end of April. In the week from April 29 to May 6 these holdings increased from $923,572,000 to $943,522,000, but thereafter there was a reduction each week to $876,489,000, May 27. These changes followed almost entirely as a result of the fluctuations in the holdings of acceptances purchased in the open market. These acceptance holdings, as already noted in the earlier portions of this article, after rising from $169,765,000, April 29 to $192,869,000, May 6 fell to $124,501,000, May 27. The discount holdings of the 12 Reserve banks followed an irregular course from week to week, declining first from $155,151,000, April 29, to $144,904,000, May 13, then increasing again to $152,852,000 May 27. Holdings of United States government securities showed scarcely any change at all, being reported at $598,306,000, April 29, and at $598,368,000, May 27. The amount of Federal Reserve notes in circulation continued to expand except for a reduction in one single week. The amount, May 27, stood at $1,551,808,000 against $1,527,740,000, April 29. Gold holdings, as a result of the large importations of the metal, continued to expand and May 27 were $3,259,273,000, as against $3,174,709,000, April 29.

COURSE OF STERLING EXCHANGE DURING MAY.

Sterling exchange moved somewhat irregularly during the month of May, with the fluctuations narrow, but with the tone all the time firm and the trend distinctly upward even if only by small fractions, following the rise in previous months. The fluctuations were largely in response to the action of the Federal Reserve authorities in repeatedly marking down their buying rate for bankers' acceptances the purpose of which was avowedly to influence supplies of loanable funds away from New York to London, and likewise in response to the reduction in the New York Reserve

Bank's rediscount rate on May 7, effective May 8, from 2% to 1½%, this last being, as already noted, not only the lowest rediscount rate ever established by any Reserve Bank but the lowest rate ever named by any central bank in the world, the records showing no lower central bank rate at any time since 1760 than 2%. The buying rate for acceptances was reduced to fantastically low figures—so low that no one would have dreamed of the possibility of ever seeing such a diminutive charge for banking credit and distinctly raising the question whether such a low charge for the use of money or credit covered the expense of the business. On May 6 for the third time in two weeks the Federal Reserve Bank marked down its bill buying rate, this time to 1⅛% for bills up to 30 days and 1¼% for bills with a maturity of 31 to 90 days. These rates represented reductions of ⅛ of 1% from the last previous reduction made on April 27. Cable transfers on London, which previously had been selling at 4.86⅜ or slightly less, touched 4.86 17-32 on May 6, 4.86 9-16 on May 7 and 4.86½ May 8, this last being the highest figure of the year up to that date. But on May 14 the rate was back to 4.86 3-16. On May 13, however, the Federal Reserve Bank again reduced its buying rate for acceptances running from 1 to 15 days to only 1% per annum, with the rate 1⅛% for maturities of 16 to 120 days. The idea was to leave a wide margin between the New York bill rates and the New York Reserve discount rate on the one hand and the London open market bill rate and the Bank of England rate on the other, but on Thursday, May 14, the Bank of England which seemed as solicitous to influence the flow of funds away from New York and towards London as our Federal Reserve authorities, reduced its own discount rate by ½ of 1%, marking it down from 3% to 2½%, which rather suggested that the Bank of England authorities thought a margin of 1% between the New York rediscount rate and the Bank of England rate was sufficient for the purpose. The rate for cable transfers at New York on London now stiffened again, the range Friday, May 15 being 4.86¼@4.86 7-16 and Saturday, May 16, 4.86⅜@4.86 7-16. The following Monday, May 18, the New York Federal Reserve Bank once more stepped into the scene, as already noted in our remarks further above with reference to the money market. It now widened the application of the 1% rate for buying acceptances so as to cover maturities running from 1 to 90 days, instead of the previous 1 to 15 days. Cable transfers on London now (May 18) got back to 4.86½ and on May 22 and May 23 touched 4.86⅝, a new high for the year though after that rates shaded off somewhat owing to the financial disturbances in Austria and the decline in the German mark with sales of cable transfers on Friday, May 29 (Saturday, May 30 being Memorial Day, and a holiday) at 4.86 7-16@4.86½, which compares with 4.86⅜ at the opening on May 1.

It should be said that the reduction in the Bank of England rate on May 14 from 3% to 2½%, the lowest rate in effect since 1909, brought the Bank rate closer in line with the bill rate in the open market in London. For many weeks the open market bill rate had been virtually pegged at 2 9-16% for three months bills at the instance of the Bank of England. Shortly before the reduction in the Bank of England rate the peg was removed and the open market rate for three months bills dropped to 2 5-16%. Following the reduction in the buying rate for acceptances at New York on May 13 the rate for two and three months bills in London dropped to 2 1-16%. The latter part of the month three months' bills in London were quoted at 2 1-16@2⅛%. Besides the reduction in the Bank of England rate, the Bank of the Netherlands on Friday, March 15, lowered its discount rate from 2½%, the rate in effect since Jan. 23 1931, to 2%, the lowest figure recorded by this Bank since 1853, and the latter part of the month a feeling grew up that the reductions in central bank rates in New York, London and Amsterdam were not altogether well advised. The sterling rate continued firm with respect to French francs, though at times easing, and the Bank of England was able to continue to reenforce its gold holdings. The Bank's return for the week ending May 6 showed an increase in the gold holdings of £1,255,128; the return for the week ending May 13 a further gain of £1,521,307; the return for the week ending May 20, a gain of £1,201,865 and that for the week ending May 27 a gain £872,341. The Bank was able to secure most of the gold offered in the open market London.

As to the movement of gold to and from the United States, this consisted mainly of importations of the metal from Argentina and some of the other Latin American countries, and the receipt of another large block of the metal from France which had been engaged for shipment the latter part of April. The New York Federal Reserve Bank summarizes the movement as follows: "A net gain of approximately $69,000,000 to the monetary gold stock of the country occurred during May chiefly as the result of the receipt of $40,030,000 of gold from Argentina, $15,650,000 from France, $3,240,000 from Colombia, $983,000 from Mexico, $964,000 from China, and $850,000 from Japan, as well as something over $1,000,000 in small amounts from other foreign sources. In addition there was a decrease of $3,000,000 in gold held under earmark for foreign account at the Boston Reserve Bank, partly offset by a special export of $600,000 of gold to Mexico. The net gain to the gold stock in the first five months of 1931 is estimated at about $202,000,000, as against $233,000,000 acquired in the January to May period of 1930."

Canadian exchange was quoted at a discount throughout the whole month but there was no suggestion of gold imports from the Dominion.

THE CONTINENTAL AND OTHER FOREIGN EXCHANGES.

French francs moved substantially higher during May, probably for the same reason as in the case of sterling rates on London, namely the exceedingly low rate to be obtained on bankers' balances here for short time investments, due largely to the action of the Federal Reserve banks in reducing their buying rate for acceptances and also the reduction in the rediscount rate of the New York Federal Reserve Bank from 2% to 1½%. The relation of the cuts in rates here to the course of sterling exchange, is outlined in our remarks above concerning sterling exchange. A further point worth noting is that in buying bills for their foreign correspondents, the Federal Reserve buying rate for acceptances is always slightly lower than the Reserve bank's buying rate for its own account since bills bought for foreign banks carry the additional guarantee of the Federal Reserve Bank. On this occasion the Reserve bank's buying rate for foreign banks dropped to only ⅞ of 1%, a figure too low it was believed to favor the retention of French balances here, even though money is virtually unlendable in Paris. Cable transfers on Paris, May 29 were quoted at 3.91 9-16@3.91 13-16 as against 3.90⅞@3.91 on May 1. The Bank of France continued to show small additions to its gold holdings, but these are supposed to have represented hoarded coin for exchange into bank notes. This latter movement has been in progress since 1928, and receipts of coin for exchange at first were large and then fell off, but apparently small amounts still keep dribbling in. In its statement for the week ending May 9 the Bank of France reported an increase of 6,786,558 francs in its gold holdings; in the week ending May 16 an increase of 3,385,389 francs; in the week ending May 23 an increase of 4,602,438 francs and in the week ending May 30 an increase of 2,000,000 francs.

In exchange on Germany the feature was a sharp break in the mark on Tuesday, May 26, after the Whitsuntide holidays. The early part of May the rate here on Berlin showed a rising tendency, as in the case of so many other of the European exchanges, and on May 12 cable transfers touched 23.82¾ as against a range of 23.81½@23.81¾ on May 1. On Monday, May 25, the quotation was still 23.80¾@23.81 but on Tuesday, May 26, there was a drop to 23.74⅝ and on subsequent days of the month even lower figures were touched or 23.74½. The reason for the sudden drop was not clearly understood, but is supposed to have been related to the financial upheaval which Austria had experienced. It was said that due to a sharp decline on the Berlin Boerse and continued uncertainty regarding the Viennese banking situation, a flight of capital from Berlin set in, though as far as could be learned no New York credits were withdrawn. Because of the close relations between Berlin and Vienna, the critical conditions which developed in Austria were unquestionably a depressing feature. The troubles in Austria grew out of the embarrassment of the Kreditanstalt fur Handel und Gewerbe, the biggest private bank in Austria. The Austrian Government and banks found it incumbent to come to the rescue by agreeing to advance $23,000,000. To obtain the sums needed it was stated in a Vienna cablegram to the New York "Times" on May 12 the Austrian Government must float a foreign loan for which it must first obtain permission from the League Control Commission which had been summoned to meet at Geneva. The cablegram stated that Austria planned to issue its proposed new National Loan through the Bank for International Settlements and that as the Kreditanstalt had more than $100,000,000 in foreign obligations the rumor prevailed that its position had been made unexpectedly precarious by the withdrawal for political purposes of French short-term loans. It was also stated that the Austrian Government would advance $14,250,000 while approximately $4,250,000 each would be provided by the National Bank of Austria and the banking house of Rothschild, the principal shareholder in the Kreditanstalt. It was claimed that the Kreditanstalt had incurred a loss of $8,500,000 by its rescue of the Bodenkreditanstalt, when the latter became insolvent at the end of 1929. Further heavy losses were caused by the depreciation of shares held as collateral. The remainder of the loss was attributed to the failure of commercial undertakings in which the Bank was interested, many of which became insolvent during 1930 and 1931. The Bank had a capital of $18,000,000 and open reserves of $5,000,000 and its losses were estimated at $20,000,000.

The troubles of this Austrian institution seemed to have a wide and increasingly disturbing effect as the month progressed, though the development of plans for relief appeared to be making satisfactory progress. A Vienna cablegram May 26 to the New York "Evening Post" stated that Austria's financial situation had been improved over night by the receipt of a cablegram from Montagu Norman, Governor of the Bank of England, saying that he approved of the reconstruction measures for the Kreditanstalt. It was stated in the cablegram that help would be forthcoming to be provided by the Rothschild banking house of London, the Anglo-International Bank of London, Lazard Freres of Paris and a big Dutch Bank. It was also reported that other French and German groups had offered to help the Kreditanstalt. On May 28 a cablegram to the New York "Times" stated that a bill authorizing an Austrian Government issue to guarantee the liabilities of the Kreditanstalt had been adopted by the Finance Committee of Parliament, with only eight votes of the Heimwehr Party against it. All of the other political parties, it was stated, were agreed on the absolute necessity for the measure, which was expected to prevent the breakdown of the whole of Austrian industry and the consequent enormous increase in unemployment. On May 29 Associated Press advices from Basle (Switzerland) stated that the Bank for International Settlements had announced that as a means of improving the situation created in Austria because of the difficulties of the Kreditanstalt an arrangement had been concluded by which the 10 largest central banks and the World Bank would place at the disposition of the National Bank of Austria credits for use when needed. The schilling on Vienna showed less depreciation than might have been expected in the circumstances, cable transfers on Vienna having declined only from 14.08 May 5 to 14.06¼ May 28 with the range May 29 14.06½@14.07. Germany received further amounts of gold estimated at $4,800,000 for the month from Russia. German bankers, however, were represented as not particularly enthusiastic about these gold receipts, inasmuch as Russia bought equivalent amounts of foreign bills on the German market, leaving the Bank of Germany's holdings of foreign bills and gold (the two together forming the legal cover) no larger than before. The Bank of Germany in its statement for the first quarter of May, showed an increase in gold and bullion holdings of 1,464,000 marks, in the second quarter an increase of 421,000 marks, in the third quarter an increase of 131,000 marks and in the final quarter an increase of 19,907,000 marks. The Italian lire showed only minor fluctuations, cable transfers May 29 being quoted at 5.23 7-16@5.23 9-16 against 5.23⅝@5.23 11-16 May 1.

In the rates on the Continental centres of the countries which remained neutral during the War, the fluctuations in the Dutch guilder and the Swiss franc attracted particular attention. Reference has already been made above to the reduction Friday, May 15 in the discount rate of the National Bank of the Netherlands from 2½% to 2%, the latter the lowest figure recorded since 1853. The Dutch guilder had been weak the early part of the month and declined still further on this reduction, but the last half of the month Dutch exchange completely reversed its course. This appeared to be related to the sudden withdrawal of Dutch funds from the German market, following the break on the Berlin Boerse with the uncertainties arising out of the German-Austrian situation. Cable transfers on Amsterdam showed a decline in the guilder from 40.20@40.21¾ May 1 to 40.15@40.15¼ May 16, but then a recovery to 40.21½@40.22¼ May 29 occurred. Doubtless the low bill rates in the New York market had something to do with this rise in the rate of the guilder and also with the almost continuous advance in the Swiss franc, cable transfers for which were 19.34½@19.35¼ May 29 as against only 19.26¼@19.26½ on May 1. The Scandinavian exchanges moved irregularly, but mostly towards slightly higher levels, in unison with the advances in the rates on so many of the other Continental centres. The Danish crown for cable transfers was 26.78@26.78½ May 29 against 26.76½@26.77¾ May 1 and the Norwegian crown for cable transfers was 26.78½@26.78½ May 29 against 26.77½@26.77¾ May 1. The Swedish crown several times during the month sold as high as 26.82 for cable transfers, but was 26.81 May 29 against 26.80½@26.81 May 1. The Spanish peseta suffered a further sharp slump. Political developments were not altogether favorable, rioting and disorders, with anti-clerical fanaticism, occurring in many cities of Spain, but perhaps the most depressing influence was the action of the Supreme Banking Council of Spain in proposing to the Government an increase in the note circulation to the maximum authorized by law.

In exchange on South America continued weakness marked the course of rates on Argentina and Uruguay. The Argentine peso, notwithstanding the huge gold exportations to the United States, dropped further from 32.10@32½ for cable transfers May 1 to 30¼@30.44 on May 29. As noted further above no less than $40,030,000 gold was received in the United States from Argentina during May, in addition to the large previous arrivals of the metal. These shipments were part of the policy of the provisional Government to serve the foreign debt with gold until Argentina's balance of international payments shall swing in the other direction. They however failed to prevent a sharp decline in the price of Argentine Government issues in this market or sufficed to arrest the decline in the Argentine paper pesos. On May 22 the Bank of the Nation in Argentina reduced its discount rate from 7% to 6½% and on May 29 made a further reduction to 6%. The Uruguayan peso dropped from 65.27@66 May 1 to 54.57@56¾ May 28 and as 55.62@57¼ May 29. A cablegram May 16 from Montevideo to the New York "Times" reported that the Uruguayan Chamber of Deputies had approved a bill to create State control of exchange operations and designed to prevent speculation which the Government blamed for the low value of the peso, which at par, it was stated, is worth more than the American dollar ($1.0342), but the effect was only to precipitate a still further decline in the price of the peso. The Peruvian sol was pretty well maintained at its new value of 28c., the quoted rate for checks May 29 being 27.85 against 27.90 May 1. This was notwithstanding the Minister of Finance of the Republic gave notice that the Government would not be able to make either the interest or sinking fund payments due June 1 on the Peruvian National loan. The Brazilian milreis also moved still lower, sable transfers May 29 being quoted at 6.80 against 7.25@7.35 May 1. On May 28 a Rio de Janeiro cablegram reported that a national moratorium, including the suspension of interest and sinking fund payments on all foreign obligations of the National and State Governments was one of the principal recommendations of the report made by Sir Otto Niemeyer, Vice-Governor of the Bank of England who had been there for several months studying things. On May 29, however, Sir Otto emphatically denied the whole story.

In exchange on the Far East renewed depreciation in the price of silver was an adverse feature. On May 29 silver was quoted at only 12⅛d. per oz. in London against 13 3-16d. on April 30. The Chinese units moved strictly in accordance with the price of silver, and a further depressing influence was the indications that China was on the eve of another devastating civil war as a result of the setting up of a separate Government by the Southern faction, with headquarters at Canton, in rebellion against the Nanking National Government of President Chiang Kai-shek. Opposition to the person and policies of the President had long been pronounced in the Southern capital and it now flamed into open revolt. The dollar on Hong Kong for checks was quoted at 33⅜@23 7-16 May 29 against 24⅜@24 11-16 May 1 and the tael on Shanghai for checks was 28⅞@29⅛ May 29 against 31⅛@31 3-16 on May 2. Rupees on Bombay continued to rule steady. The Imperial Bank of India on May 8 reduced its rate of discount from 7% to 6%. An Indian Government loan for $50,000,000, consisting of 6% bonds payable in 1933-34, brought out in London during May met with poor success, the subscriptions reaching only £19,000,000, leaving 62% on the hands of the underwriters.

The result was attributed to the unsettled political situation in India which has served as a bar on the issuance of long term bonds. The Japanese yen remained firm throughout the month, with the range May 29 49.36@49½ against 49.34@49½ May 1.

The tables on pages 16 to 38 furnish a complete record of the transactions on the New York Stock Exchange durin May and range since January 1. They need no extended introduction, as they are self-explanatory. The table embrace every security dealt in on the Exchange. We give bonds first, using the classification adopted in the official lis The black-faced letters in the column headed "Interest Period" indicate in each case the month when the bonds mature.

In accordance with the rule adopted by the New York Stock Exchange in 1909, all quotations for interest-paying bon are at a price to which accrued interest must be added. The exceptions to the rule are income bonds and bonds on whic interest is in default. A few other bonds, like the Holland-American Line 6s, for special reasons, are also quoted "flat, but where this is the case the quotation "flat" will be found against the name of the issue. This method of quoting bon became effective Jan. 2 1909.

For footnotes to tables see last page of bonds and last page of stocks.
